The Texas Panhandle is already cluttered up by powerline and oilwells let's keep Palo Duro Canyon clear of these unsightly objects !!!

398 Russell Gallagher

Back to signature list

There should be NO company from Dallas OR Local that should be allowed to take away the natural beauty that the Palo Duro Canyon provides. Its Nature at its finest and any transmission line put there would take away the splendor you see when you visit the Canyon.

please dont let this happen. palo duro canyon needs to stay in its pristine state and to allow electrical lines to run through it so dallas and ft worth can have more power is ridiculous.

377 Hal Moreland

Back to signature list

I am very much definately opposed to this idea of running electric transmission lines across our beautiful Palo Duro Canyon. It would destroy the beauty and potential wildlife habitats in this area. You said there were 3 proposed sites. Well, take the lines to the one site that DOES NOT GO ACROSS PALO DURO CANYON. As far as I know, there are no lines going across the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Palo Duro Canyon nickname is the Grand Canyon of Texas. DO NOT DESTROY THE BEAUTY OF TX GRAND CANYON.

Why is some one always wanting to destroy a Place that is so beautiful as PaloDuro Canyon? I have a suggestion where Sharyland Utilities can route the power lines. But since this is were the public can view it, I won't type it here. This is not in public Intrest so much as it's more in profit for a private enterprise to cut cost & make more money for themselves & Ruin Natures Beauty.

LEAVE PALODURO CANYON ALONE.....

We agree that more power lines should be built. Just not in a place set aside for preserving natural beauty. We fear that the powerlines could adversely affect the state park and its wildlife. Build the power lines some place else.

Back to signature list

lines across this beautiful canyon will ruin the whole country side. let them put it in open fields, if they have to put it anywhere, i really dont care since our area will not gain any benifit from the lines!

This would ruin the canyon, just to get electric down to the Dallas/Ft Worth and Austin area, stop ruining the panhandle just to make it easier on them.

351 Bret Baer

Back to signature list

Do not place power lines over PDC. The thought of these power lines interrupting a beautiful view of one of the most beautiful places in Texas is unimaginable. Why don't you just place power lines over the state's capitol building in Austin while you are at it?

350 Robert Shugart

Back to signature list

Palo Duro Canyon is an essential part of Texas history, and one of the most outstanding natural features of the High Plains. To thoughtlessly place a large transmission line across the canyon at any point would be a foul misdeed. The Palo Duro Canyon is an invaluable resource to Canyon, Amarillo, Randall county, the state of Texas and the United States of America. Rich in history, unique and picturesque, the Palo Duro Canyon is a treasured natural resource to the nearby communities and state parks system. I am in strong opposition to the two proposed power lines that would cross North Palo Duro Canyon in Randall County near or along Link AA and Link V. With so much right of way available on all the other proposed routes there is no reason to spoil this national treasure, endanger the wildlife, endanger air traffic, increase the fire danger and accelerate devastating erosion that would occur from construction and access for maintenance and repairs.

I have actually lived down in Palo Duro Canyon....It would be a shame to diminish it with transmission lines.

142 Stephen Estes

Back to signature list

Our parks are for us so we can have refuge to see increasingly rare and valuable natural beauty. We need to protect these treasures from sight pollution or we will lose it all. Convenient development is not the only option that adds value to our lives.

133 Joan Estes

Back to signature list

I am very concerned about the proposed placement of lines in Palo Duro Canyon. I believe it would be to the demise of the State of Texas to have such an ugly eyesore in one of the most beautiful places in our state. It would be as ugly there as it would be in the Grand Canyon. It poses a hazard to wildlife and people that live along this historic landmark. I am a small landowner near the park and think of the hazard of fire in the area. That would forever ruin this delicate environment!

Placing this transmission line across this extraordinarily beautiful area of the Palo Duro Canyon violates almost every one of PUCs guidelines especially those intended to protect community values, recreational areas, historical and aesthetic values, and environmental integrity!!

76 Marcy McKay

Back to signature list

As stewards of this earth, it's our responsibility to preserve and protect the land from destruction. These high-voltage lines should NOT be placed over Palo Duro Canyon.

75 Jim Currie

Back to signature list

It seems we are willing to sacrifice a portion of the Palo Duro Canyon to achieve an inexpensive route for a major powerline. This is a shameful use of this canyon, a non-replaceable scenic and geologic wonder.

74 Mary R Holder

Back to signature list

Use the land easement from the owners who have already compromised their property, by allowing the windmills to be placed there.

72 Greg Mason

Back to signature list

The Currie Ranch canyon MUST be saved.

69 Greg Dodson

Back to signature list

I love this area and hope to retire to the north end of Palo Duro Canyon.

68 Beth Mashburn

Back to signature list

There are fewer and fewer areas of unspoiled scenic beauty left in America. If the transmission lines can be routed around the canyon, they should do so. Routing them through the canyon will not only destroy scenic views, but will also damage or destroy sensitive ecological areas as the footings for the towers are built.

67 Jean Stuntz

Back to signature list

Please put the transmission lines where they will not destroy the natural beauty and main tourist attraction of the Texas Panhandle.

66 james lafon

Back to signature list

Gentlemen: I believe that there are other options to building your transmission lines over a canyon that has remained largely untouched for millions of years. Property owners in the area are not un-cooperative and have advanced options that will satisfy both parties involved. As a consumer, I am not certain that wind energy, as proposed, will contribute much to the total energy pool . Maybe Dallas should learn to conserve!

110

65 Marisue Potts

Back to signature list

My historic ranch is also facing the transmission blight. Just because we live in a remote region, most people think nothing of ruining our view, our way of life, our heritage. Certainly they would not want this transmission line in their backyard. I hope you can save the north Palo Duro area from this line.

64 Mark lafon

Back to signature list

Surely if a need for a wind energy transmission line arises due to environmental concerns, do not then contradict that concern by destroying an environmental and ecological treasure.

63 Marcella Bradly

Back to signature list

What can I do to help?

61 Jerry Steed

Back to signature list

The Canyon not just the state park is a natural treasure, and it should be preserved for the ages. Shame on the Utility for suggesting this route.

58 Jeffrey Claytor

Back to signature list

The proposed transmission lines would effectively destroy the unique beauty of the canyon. The alternative routes to the north of the canyon would prove far more effective with regard to their maintenance and safety. There is no compelling need to make a short-cut through the canyon or to trash its beauty when more reasonable alternatives exist.

55 Michael Mastrandrea

Back to signature list

Development of transmission lines to support the expansion of wind power is an important goal. But this priority must be pursued while also considering the multiple values of the land over which lines will run. Given that an alternate route exists that would not disrupt the North Palo Duro Canyon ecosystems and the legacy of stewardship in this area, a clear solution is available that would address the needs of all parties.

54 Patricia Mastrandrea

Back to signature list

For many decades, I have had the privilege of enjoying the extraordinary beauty and healthy, thriving ecosystems of the North Palo Duro Canyon preserved through thoughtful, informed stewardship. One of the 3 proposed transmission routes does not require despoiling a treasured legacy and the sacrifice of the demonstrated multiple values of the North Palo Duro Canyon. I strongly recommend that the proposed route that does not cross the North Palo Duro Canyon be chosen for implementation to provide

53 SHIRLEY CLARK

Back to signature list

SURELY, THERE IS ANOTHER SOLUTION AND WAY AROUND PALO DURO CANYON. THIS CANYON IS AN INTEGRAL PART OF OUR COUNTRY AND DOES NOT DESERVE TO BE SCARRED BY HIGH VOLTAGE POWER LINES NOT TO MENTION THE WILD LIFE.

51 jenne maag

Back to signature list

Those lines destroy the natural beauty of the canyon. Wires cad be buried even though it is more expensive to keep as much of the beauty of this great country as we can. I believe in leaving as much land as we can to wildlife preserves and national parks as we who own such land as we can.

49 Cheri Gigliotti

Back to signature list

Please preserve this natural wonder. We have visited many times and are always in awe of its beauty.

42 Clark Mahoney

Back to signature list

Having spent over 45 years vacationing at the Canyon with my family, I strongly oppose the destruction this project will cause. Put the transmission lines somewhere else, somewhere less destructive, less beautiful and less loved.

40 Robert Condron

Back to signature list

As a landowner in this beautiful area, why is it that we have to choose between an economical and needed energy source and an irreplaceable national treasure? Can't we have both? There are plenty of sites for this construction.

Why build it across Palo Duro Canyon and spoil areas that have been home to wild animals for thousands of years and land that has been a campground of the Commanche and the Kiowa.

There are other options.

36 Sheila Barker

Back to signature list

Some landscapes should be held sacred and all parts of Palo Duro Canyon should be kept in its original pristine form.

28 Joshua Maag

Back to signature list

There must be a better alternative. Let's leave some beautiful areas as untouched as possible.

25 Keith Barnett

Back to signature list

Why Would you want to screw up something that looks so good? Them transmission line can FIND another route to get to where the need to be..

7 David Currie

Back to signature list

These two routes should never have been considered. This part of the canyon should be preserved and protected from projects like this that will cause permanent damage to the environment and aesthetic value of the entire region.

6 Stephen O'Connor

Back to signature list

I am along with many others are fighting to Stop Transgrid from putting 330kv Towers across our land and landscape .I consider projects like these are nothing short of insane.I wish you all the best

5 Susan Rogers

Back to signature list

This Canyon is an irreplaceable treasure. Even the fiercest advocates for the unbridled development of lattice towers and transmission lines across the American countryside would have to admit that beautiful, unique and historical landscapes such as the north Palo Duro Canyon should be avoided...that is, if they truly desire "green energy." So please pass this law to protect north Palo Duro Canyon.

4 Kay Condron

Back to signature list

This property has far too much historical value, endangered wildlife, and great beauty, to be ruined by such a horrendous undertaking.

2 Alan LaFon

Back to signature list

Running a power line across the Palo Duro Canyon is simply insane.....please step forward and tell them we will not stand for it!

1 Dan Rogers

Back to signature list

The idea of putting these 345Kv transmissions lines across this unique property is preposterous! Even the indians who died there are likely to rise up and scalp the greedy private utility shareholders who have no respect for private property and even less respect for the Amarillo community. Let us hope our elected officials have better sense!
