EXHIBIT A

DEFINITIONS

The following definitions apply to the terms in these requests, unless specifically noted otherwise.

1. The term “document” or “documents” is intended to be comprehensive and to include, without limitation:
 - (a) Any agreement, record, file or portion thereof, letter, report, record, list, summary, memorandum, note, study, chart, analysis, graph, data sheet, statistical record, notebook, diary, drawing, blueprint, diagram, photograph, form, book, telegram, publication, newspaper clipping, advertisement, manager’s report, management report, activity report, incident report, and all other writings of any kind or character whatsoever, including drafts and copies of the foregoing, as well as all reproductions or other facsimiles thereof by whatever means made, and all copies which are not identical by reason of shorthand or longhand written notes, initials, identification marks, or other modifications;
 - (b) Any contract or proposed contract, memorandum of a contract or proposed contract or an agreement, any writing or document with respect to a contract, proposed contract or an agreement, of any type or nature, wherever located or owned or in the custody of whomever, together with each and every other document, memorandum, record, or data compilation, by whatever method compiled and however made or stored with regard to same, respectively, without limitation;
 - (c) Any data or information that is, has been, or is suitable to be kept, located or stored in, with or in the vicinity of a computer, computer records, or of computer-related instrumentalities, whether kept, located or stored on print-out paper or other paper, on CD-ROMs, on floppy discs, on the software on or in the memory banks of the computer itself, or elsewhere; and
 - (d) Any photographs, videotapes, cassette tapes, films, moving pictures, computer tapes, drawings, correspondence, bills, reports, raw data, diagrams, surveys, sketches, oscillographs, or any other matter however produced or reproduced, including any copies thereof.

DOCUMENTS REQUESTED
