Atlanta tops New Boston, 54-8, on the road

By Tim Emmens
temmens@casscountynow.com

Atlanta traveled to New Boston last Friday for another pre-district contest, and left town with a 54-8, victory in hand.

Coming into the contest Atlanta had won three straight against the Lions, and to date holds a (48-14-2) record in the series which started in 1925.

New Boston has only won as many as three consecutive games in the series while the Rabbits have posted a few consecutive wins; the most coming between the years of 1961 and 1980 where the Rabbits reeled off 16 wins in a row.

First Quarter

New Boston won the toss and elected to receive.

Atlanta's defense was on tap as they forced a quick three-and-out, and put the Lions in punt formation with 11:05 left in the first frame.

Atlanta wasted no time in moving the ball as the first two handoffs went to jawan King who racked up 38 yards before quarterback Andy Samples hit Kade Wood for a 21-yard touchdown pass to put the Rabbits on the scoreboard.

The drive was only three plays in less than 30 seconds and after Fernando Campos' PAT Atlanta was up, 7-0, with 10:31 left on the clock.

Both teams traded punts until the five minute mark.

Atlanta's Connor Samples breaks loose for a 61-yard run against New Boston.

After a nice kickoff return by Austin Brown put the Rabbits on the New Boston 36, King and Samples took over with nice runs.

King took two handoffs for 28 yards total and Samples ended the drive with an 8-yard TD run.

The 2-point conversion was no good but Atlanta was up, 13-0, with 4:06 left in the first quarter.

New Boston's next drive ended in a turnover on downs situation, and the Rabbits started the next drive from the Lion 43.

After an incomplete pass, Samples gained 32 yards on the QB keeper followed by a short 3-yard gain by Dra Nelson.

King crossed the goal line on his second carry from the 2-yard line after a 6-yard gain the run before.

The first quarter closed with New Boston in control of the ball.

Second Quarter

New Boston opened the new quarter with a big run from the 3-yard line and after a penalty against Atlanta, the Lions were in business at the 38.

The Lions through a pass interference call, another penalty against the Rabbits and a big 26-yard run pulled New Boston within seven yards of the goal line.

A 4-yard run put them at the 3-yard line before disaster struck.

On second-and-goal the center snapped the ball over the QB's head and the Lions lost 22 yards.

back position.

Webster made a nice 23-yard run on second down, but an interception ended the drive at the 11:12 mark.

After a New Boston punt with 8:59 left on the clock, Atlanta began its drive from the 26.

In just two short plays the Rabbits were back in the endzone as Nelson gained yards of 68 and six on two carries.

The latter was a TD and with Campos sending another PAT through the uprights Atlanta was up, 34-0, with 8:17 left in the third stanza.

The Lions put together a nice drive on its next attempt as they pulled off runs off 11 and 33 yards to pull within 38 yards of the endzone.

Three plays later New Boston opted to go for it on a fourth-and-long situation, and received a new set of downs after an amazing catch along the sidelines put the Lions at the Rabbit 12-yard line.

Fortunately for the Rabbits Luke Anthony picked off a would-be score around the goal line four plays later and ran the ball back to the New Boston 9-yard line.

Joshua Edwards gained five yards on the sweep for the Rabbits before Nelson took the ball in from four yards out.

Campos missed his first Pat of the night up to that point but Atlanta was up, 40-0, with 4:09 left in the third quarter.

After another punt by the Lions at the 1:35 mark, Atlanta began its next drive from the Lion 41.

Nick Washington and Holland gained a few yards on the ground to end the third frame.

Fourth Quarter

The final quarter opened with Atlanta facing fourth-and-2 from the 33, but Washington took the handoff from Holland and raced into the endzone for another score.

The PAT by Campos boosted the score to, 47-0, with 11:47 left in the game.

New Boston's next drive started with a nice 8-yard gain, followed by a huge 41-yard run to put the Lions within 18 yards of pay dirt.

New Boston eventually scored from the 18 on third down and avoided the shutout.

The 2-point conversion was good and the score stood at, 47-8, with 8:35 left in the contest.

Atlanta's next drive featured a couple of runs by Connor Samples which included a 61-yard gallop and an 11-yard touchdown run with 6:07 left in the game.

The PAT by Campos posted the score at, 54-8.

New Boston caught a lucky break on its next drive after a punted ball careened off the foot of a Rabbit player and was recovered by the Lions in Atlanta territory with less than 3:50 left in the game, but New Boston made it as far as the 31 as time expired.

Andy Samples was 5-for-10 passing with 79 yards and a score, and off a would-be score around the goal line four plays later and ran the ball back to the New Boston 9-yard line.

Wood had three catches for 36 yards with a TD. Rich had one pass caught for 24 yards and King reeled in a 19-yard pass. King also rushed for 96 yards on 12 carries with two TDs.

Nelson posted 80 yards on four carries with two scores, Connor Samples had 72 yards on three carries with a score, Washington gained 39 yards on three carries with a TD. Webster had three carries for 41 yards, Holland gained a couple of yards from the QB position and Edwards added five yards on a sweep play.

Campos was solid on PATs as he posted 6-for-7 rushing yards and 79 passing yards in the game for a total of 454 total yards.

The Rabbits (2-2) travel to Tatum this upcoming Friday night for the last pre-district game before hosting Pittsburg to open district play on Oct. 13.

Kickoff for the Tatum game is 7:30 p.m.

- 3 cups water
- Garlic (optional)
- Bay leaves (optional)
- Dried oregano (optional)

- 1. Bring each 1/2 a bowl, cooking beans and water to a boil for 1 hour overnight. Drain and rinse thoroughly with cold water. Beans are now ready for cooking.
- 2. Quick cook. In a pot, combine beans and water. Boil for 3 minutes. Turn off heat and soak for 1 hour. Drain and rinse thoroughly under cold water. Beans are now ready to cook.

WOMAN DIES IN UPSHUR FIRE

BY PHILIP WILLIAMS

A daytime fire near the rural Diana community of Upshur County last Thursday killed a woman, critically injured her husband and injured their adult son, said authorities.

Upshur County Precinct 2 Justice of the Peace Lyle Potter said he pronounced Sherry Hogue, 55, dead at the scene of her home on Texas 154 just west of Diana at 10:27 a.m. Results of an autopsy which Potter ordered were not yet known Tuesday. The woman's husband was hospitalized at LSU-Shreveport, said Paul Ayres, investigator for the State Fire Marshall's Office, who refused to release the man's name and said he had no update on his condition. Potter said he did not know the husband's name.

Ayres said he believed, but had not verified, the couple's son was treated for smoke inhalation. That man's name was not available.

The fire, still under investigation, may have originated in the end of the wood frame home housing the kitchen, living room and dining room, said Ayres. The residence had a pier and beam foundation, he said.

Foul play was not believed to be involved, he said.

and it's horrible. So it was really heartwarming to be able to do some stuff to help them."

Reeves said he was told by a pastor in Port Arthur that 80 percent of the homes were flooded. He said this hurricane will leave the Texas coast much different than before.

The groups also heard Cathy and Jason Wall, a husband and wife who went down to help them went down with a big group to Houston at first, Cathy said.

"We were staged in a Target parking lot," Cathy said. "There were probably 10 boats waiting to get word from a fire department to find out where we were needed the most. We had several people pull up some jet skis. They said we just came in, we don't know where you're going, but we want to help."

However, because of trouble getting into locations in Houston, they ended up going to Port Arthur, Cathy said. What is normally an 80 minute drive ended up taking them eight hours.

"Eight hours with lots of turn around," she said. "We were on I-10 and there's a concrete median in the middle of the road and water was lapping over the top of the median. The opposite side was full of water, but we could still drive on the opposite side. It turned the median into a seawall. But it was very slow going through a lot of water, water we probably shouldn't have driven through and probably wouldn't again, to get down there and get turned around because there was 10 or 12 feet deep water for the next seven miles. We would go back through to find that the road we just travelled on had been shut down or a bridge that we had just crossed had collapsed."

When they finally arrived in Port Arthur they worked with the Coast Guard. They also helped out in Orange, Texas. Cathy said the last person they rescued was an 80 year old man, who stayed as long as he could before he had to leave because he was running low on medicine.

"If it wasn't for the volunteers there wouldn't have been a lot more problems," Jason said.

Joshua Carter, a member of the Carthage Noon Lions Club, also spoke about his experience. He went with a group, which included Marshall firefighters.

"It was organized chaos, but it wasn't very chaotic because everyone had the same goal in mind, but there was little to no direction," Carter said. "It was pretty tough to know where to be, how to get there. You heard stories after you shouldn't drive through, we definitely did that."

When they got there they launched the boat on an overpass exit ramp, he said. He said there was no telling them where to go, they just went.

"It was very rewarding to be down there and to be able to help these people," Carter said. "They were in bad shape, all you could see was the top of mailboxes."

While down there, needed to be."

Carter said they got a call and went to help and ran into Scott Reeves and his group.

"We take off and didn't even get 500 yards and there was a nursing home on the left," Carter said. "There was just one or two boats in front of the nursing home and there are people lined up down the hall in the nursing home, sitting in the chairs, wheelchairs halfway in the water. Of course we turned immediately and I think that me being able to help in that situation made the whole situation worthwhile. When we saw that nursing home there were maybe 70 or 80 residents in there. Of course the firemen guys knew the protocol, these people were in wheelchairs and some couldn't walk. We just jumped out of the boats and started lifting people into the boats."

Carter said that it was sometimes dangerous trying to navigate the water and his groups boat hit a fire hydrant at one point. However, he was happy to go down there because "God put us where we needed to be."

streamers, announcing their popularity at school, the following morning.

Fall reminds me of my grandmother. She would sit for a while in her easy chair, working cross-word puzzle book from cover to cover, rising occasionally to stir the pot of beans with bacon, and punching bread dough down. It reminds me of my mother as she trimmed the crust around her pies, shaping the trimming into animals and letters. She would sprinkle them with cinnamon and sugar and let my brother and I enjoy them fresh, right out of the oven.

Fall also reminds me of my grandfather, sitting in his chair on the front porch, puffing on his pipe, his cherry tobacco smoke gathering around him like a cloak that smelled like a campfire in the deep woods.

Fall, for me, is the comforting feel of the worn out, faded, and much-loved sweat-shirt, thick socks tucked into a pair of my favorite hiking boots, and a pair of Levi's, while enjoying the freedom of not being all prissy and proper for a while. And when fall truly arrives, it comes with the announcement that our long, hot summer is finally over.

If we listen closely, we will begin to hear the faint calls of northern geese as they fly high above our darkened homes in the early autumn nights, their cries fading as they head to their southern vacation homes to escape the throes of winter. As we fill our feeders, we notice that there is now a variety of new birds stopping on their journey south to rest a spell and fill their beaks with mouthfuls of seeds. As I listen to their chatter as they spread more seed on the ground that in their bellies, I can almost hear the insistence in their birdsong to move quickly on before winter catches up with them.

We will also check our store of firewood, making sure we have an adequate supply to get us through to spring, and mulch our flower beds to keep them from getting frostbit when the temperatures begin to drop.

So, it is with a sense of expectation and restrained joy that I watch the leaves begin their descent to their winter beds. And, although we don't always get the spectacular display of autumn that our northern states enjoy, we will get to slowly savor the beginning of fall weather, watching as our leaves lightly spiral down like dancing fairies. We will wait patiently for fall to finally envelope us in a great big hug, like a long lost friend. And finally, without regrets or sadness, say goodbye to summer.

Sooner

I met only two of dad's many siblings, his oldest brother, Zebadee, and a sister, Willie Lee who was named after her father. Zebadee's wife, Vada, had family in Terrell, and that's about all we know about her. Zebadee was the only Aldridge family member I recall coming to visit us, something they did frequently.

Willie Lee and her husband, whose name I don't recall, lived just outside Baton Rouge near the Mississippi River in the tiny community of Tickaw, Louisiana.

The one and only trip to visit dad's family was with my father and his brother, Zebadee, to pick up a new 1961 Ford Zebadee had purchased in Baton Rouge. On that trip, we visited my dad's sister and his biological father. As far as I know, that was one of only a few times my father ever visited him. Willie Aldridge lived alone near the Mississippi River, not far from his daughter, in an old Southern dog-trot style home that I'm pretty sure had never enjoyed a coat of paint.

My favorite memory of that trip was Willie making coffee by stirring grounds in a skillet and boiling them in a coffee pot before straining the resulting liquid through a cloth. Zebadee was never without a coffee thermos wherever he went, and I'm guessing everyone in the family knew that as well. When we left, Willie told Zebadee to get his thermos and he would put the rest of that coffee in it for the trip home. Just like it was yesterday, I remember sitting in the back seat on the way back to Texas listening to my uncle and my dad talking. Zebadee asked dad if he wanted some of the coffee. Dad looked at him and said, "No, but save it. I'm pretty sure we can use it if we run out of gas."

One facet of this genealogical exercise is to document family history, stories and memories for my children while I still have a sufficient number of active brain cells to do so. Looking back, it's something I wish I had started sooner rather than later.

Press Release

Governor applauds TxDOT efforts in removal of hurricane debris

AUSTIN — Gov. Greg Abbott on Sept. 27 announced the Texas Department of Transportation had collected more than 2.4 million cubic feet of debris left behind by Hurricane Harvey in roadways across the four districts hardest hit by the storm.

TxDOT is continuing to assist in the removal of debris from roadsides in Corpus Christi, Houston, Beaumont and a number of areas along the Gulf Coast region, Abbott said in a news release.

"This is a tall order, but I want to assure Texans that TxDOT is up to the challenge and has already made great progress. We will not rest until this important job is finished, and we are working to do so as quickly as possible," he added.

Texas Transportation Commission Chair J. Bruce Bugg Jr. pointed to TxDOT's "remarkable progress" in bringing agency employees from across Texas to impacted areas. He made special mention of those working through the protracted cleanup while "dealing with their own personal losses" caused by Hurricane Harvey.

More than 600 employees from all 25 TxDOT districts are involved in debris removal in areas impacted by Hurricane Harvey, Bugg said.

Patrick assigns tasks

Gov. Abbott posted his thoughts regarding the failure of the Graham-Cassidy bill in the U.S. Senate on Sept. 26.

"With healthcare premiums skyrocketing and access to affordable insurance shrinking, it is irrefutable that Obamacare is broken, and must be repealed. The question is whether our healthcare system evolves into a Bernie Sanders-style government-run, single-payer healthcare system or we empower states with the flexibility to craft patient-driven health care plans that meet the unique needs of their citizens," Abbott wrote.

"The Graham-Cassidy bill aspires to the goal of reducing the role of the federal government in health care decisions and giving states more flexibility to help their citizens make health care decisions better tailored to their unique needs. I trust Texans know better how to address their health care needs than bureaucrats in Washington," Abbott added.

AARP, the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association have refuted assertions that the current healthcare law, widely known as Obamacare, is broken, and did not support passage of the Graham-Cassidy bill.

"But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people belonging to God, that you may declare the praises of him who called you out of the darkness into his wonderful light." 1 Peter 2:9

We celebrated the Sacrament of Holy Communion, inviting all present to partake.
Rev. Danny's message, "A Royal Priesthood" was taken from 1 Peter, concerning the chosen people.

Our 150th celebration is just around the corner. It will be an exciting time for our little church with a performance by the Wiley College A Capella Choir, and contemporary music by Lisa Mayhugh. Our worship service will be led by Bishop Scott Jones of the Texas Annual Conference. We expect several former pastors to be in attendance. The service will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will be followed by the dedication of our new historical markers. Church members are asked to park on the grassy areas to leave the paved parking for visitors. We're all looking forward to a day that will live in our memories for years to come.

Birthday wishes go to Elaine Jenkins

Miracle Faith Baptist Church

By Mae Shedd
After Sunday school, the choir led the worship music. Bro. Robert's message came from Matthew on the Great Commission and how we should tell others about Jesus.
He used Helen Boyce to point out things she did to get the Word out to others. He told how Helen was always thankful, even in bad times of illness, and that she passed out about 2000 tracts in the last four years. She was truly a faithful Christian and will be missed greatly by all the church. The youth had an outing on Saturday night. The seniors are planning an outing in the end of the month.

Lunch followed the service. There was no evening service. The Ladies Bible Study is doing great. We had 19 attend last Wednesday.
This week's menu is pizza and cake for birthdays in October. Remember it's not about us, but about Him.

"Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." James 5:16
Wednesday's message, presented by Pastor Jerry Jackson, was titled "The Tongue" taken from James.
On Sunday morning Ashlen Jackson sang the special Pastor Jerry's message from Exodus was titled "When Do We Need Revival in Our Life?"

Ashlen and Duane Jackson sang the Sunday evening special. Pastor Jerry's evening message, titled "Getting Ready for Revival," was taken from 1 Kings.
We pray God will be with the guest pastor, Bro. Andy Russell through the revival which began Monday and will go through Thursday. Music will be provided by Living Proof Services beginning at 7:00 p.m. nightly. Birthday wishes go to Merinda House.

Wildcats Drop By 13-0 Score

The Commerce Tigers, using tailback Larry Waters and halfback Randy Clark as big guns, blasted the Rains Wildcats 13-0 Friday night.

The 185-pound Waters broke for runs of 40, 20 and 17 yards on the way to amassing 117 yards on 13 carries for a 9-yard average. Clark went over, around, under and through the Wildcat defense in gathering 80 yards for the win-hungry Tigers.

The victory was the first of the year for the Tigers and put the record at one win and four losses. The Wildcats' record on entering the game was 2-1-1.

Lions Club To Sponsor Road Project

The Emory Lions Club has voted to sponsor the improvement of the county road to the City Cemetery as a club project. The portion of the road to be improved will be from State Hwy 19 west and south to old U.S. Hwy 69 for a total length of approximately three-fourths of a mile. The improvement will provide a hard surfaced road by stabilizing the existing gravelled road with road oil.

A special account has been established for anyone who would care to contribute funds to this project.

Public Scales Are Destroyed By Fire Monday

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the public scales Monday evening. The Emory Fire Volunteers answered the call, but the fire had gained too much headway to be saved.

It is not known just who owns the scales, since the farmers of the county purchased it some years ago and the group later disbanded.

The scales were estimated to cost around several thousand dollars if purchased now.

THIS WEEK IN TEXAS HISTORY

Austin spends many months in Mexican dungeon

Arriving in Mexico City on October 15, 1834, attorneys Peter W. Grayson and Spencer H. Jack went right to work to finally end Stephen F. Austin's nine-month nightmare.

The cause of the confinement was a letter Austin wrote in the heat of the moment the previous October. Exasperated by the refusal of the central government to grant Texas statehood, the empresario encouraged the San Antonio ayuntamiento or city council to lay the groundwork for the forbidden regime in open defiance of the short-sighted policy.

Austin had forgotten all about the impulsive communication by the time a copy landed on the desk of the acting president of Mexico, Gomez Farias, was infuriated by the seemingly seditious statement and issued orders for the arrest of the American colonizer.

Apprehended at Saltillo on January 3, 1834, Austin was taken to Monterrey, where he spent the next two weeks before being transferred to the capital. More concerned with the reaction of fellow Texans than his own fate, he stated for the record his fervent hope that "there will be no excitement about my arrest."

Confiding in a Mexican senator he had known for years, Austin expressed his true feelings: "I was not born in a wilderness, and have not the patience of those inhabitants, who are daily enduring the same dangers and anxieties that their fathers and grandfathers and perhaps their great-grandfathers suffered without advancing or thinking of advancing. Death is preferable to such stagnant existence, such stupid life."

Austin picked the wrong man to trust. The politician betrayed his old friend by turning over the incriminating correspondence to the authorities.

Arriving at Mexico City on February 13, Austin expected the comparatively comfortable accommodations customarily afforded prominent prisoners. To his horror, he was housed in a 13x16-foot cell and denied visitors as well as reading and writing materials. Austin did manage to keep a diary on tattered scraps of paper. During his third and last month of solitary confinement, he scribbled an anguishing entry: "What a system of jurisprudence is this! I do not know of what I am accused. How can I prepare my defense?"

Slipping into a deep and protracted depression that summer, Austin bared his soul in bitter letters to unresponsive acquaintances back home. Had he been left to rot in a distant dungeon and was there any truth to his captors' claim that longtime critics were responsible for his continued incarceration?

Moved by the painful plight of the prisoner, Peter W. Grayson decided to intercede on his behalf. Accompanied by Spencer H. Jack, also a respected lawyer, he set out for Mexico City.

Though weary from their long journey, the Texans immediately called on their client. "The delight he experienced upon seeing us," Grayson later remembered, "may be more easily imagined than described."

Following a much-needed exchange of morale-boosting pleasantries, the visitors asked Austin for the list of charges lodged against him. They were flabbergasted by his reply. After nine months in custody, he was still completely in the dark.

For days Grayson and Jack pestered uncooperative officials for an explanation of Austin's indefinite detention. Their persistence seemed to have paid off when "a huge mountain of documents" was delivered to their hotel room.

Sorting through the avalanche of papers for evidence of the alleged transgression and a formal accusation, the eagle-eyed attorneys found nothing more than rumor and hearsay. Austin's apparent crime was his criticism of the government stand against statehood for the northernmost province.

Turning to a local lawyer for a crash course on Mexican law, the Texans were told that mere suspicion of seditious conduct was sufficient to keep the empresario behind bars until he was old and gray. The authorities were under no obligation to give Austin his day in court, even though he was presumed guilty until proven innocent.

Clutching at the only available straw, Grayson and Jack worked to have their client released on bail. When a wealthy Mexican agreed to guarantee a high bond, the overjoyed prisoner was freed on Christmas Day.

Austin was, however, kept on a very short leash and restricted to the city limits of the capital. Seven tense and tedious months would drag by before he was finally allowed to return to Texas under the terms of a general amnesty.

The lesson of this dreadful ordeal was not lost on the Anglo-American colonists. If Stephen F. Austin, who had bent over backwards for more than a decade to get along with the Mexican hierarchy, could be subjected to such arbitrary abuse, what chance did the ordinary Texan have?

Never a physically strong person, the conditions of Austin's captivity broke his health leading directly to his premature death from pneumonia during the last week of 1836. The "Father of Texas" was only 43 years old.

Buckeyes win shootout with Nac Gilmer freshmen edge Dragons, 32-31

By Elwyn Henderson

For the second year in a row, the Nacogdoches Dragons gave the Gilmer Buckeyes a hard-fought battle Friday night at Jeff Traylor Stadium in Gilmer. The game fell behind early by a count of 14-0 but tied back and held on for a thrilling 31-28 victory. Last year in Nacogdoches the Buckeyes prevailed 56-52. There is no doubt that battles like these are good experience for down the road, particularly in the playoffs. The win moves Gilmer to 4-1. This is an open week before the Buckeyes begin district play against Pleasant Grove at Jeff Traylor Stadium on Oct. 13.

The visiting Golden Dragons won the coin toss but deferred to the second half. The Dragons forced a three-and-out, and on fourth down catastrophe hit when Nac recovered a blocked punt attempt in the Gilmer 15. It took only 4 plays and 1:35 for the visitors to cash in the early lead. They scored with 9:46 left in the first quarter when quarterback Jake Smith hit James Sowards from the 13. Chris Campos-Gonzalez added the PAT and the Dragons led 10-0.

The Buckeyes offense got the ball at the Gilmer 32 after Brayton Bates returned the ensuing kick-off. Poppy Brown and company had a good drive going, that appeared as though it would lead to a game tying touchdown, but on a third down on the third series of the drive, Brown was intercepted by his brother Decker at his 13 and the threat was quieted.

The potent Nac offense took just 46 seconds and 12 plays to move the 87 yards into the end zone once again. After a 7 yard pass from Smith to Marcus Flanagan, Marcus Sweet broke free on a 20 yard sprint into the end zone. Campos-Gonzalez added the extra point, and the visitors were up 14-0 with 6:35 left in the opening frame.

Following a kick out of the end zone, Brown and the offense took over at their 25 and climbed right back into the game. They moved the 75 yards in just 8 plays and took 2:43 off the clock before Brown hit Morgan Laster from 36 yards out for a score. Adam Tate hit the extra point, and the deficit was cut in half, 14-7.

After Barro kicked went out of bounds in the Dragon 8, instead of taking the ball at the 30, the visitors chose to have the Buckeye kick from the 10. Barro did not kick it, but was recovered by Hollister at the 40. The offense went to work in the end zone and took the lead at the end of the drive.

It took only 3 plays and 43 seconds for Gilmer to punch the ball into the end zone for the second time. The score came on an 8 yard run by Brian Webb immediately after a 35 yard pass from Brown to Red Jones. The Buckeyes successfully converted a point on conversion out of the swinging gate, and Gilmer led 15-14 with 3:09 left in the first quarter.

The Buckeyes successfully recovered a second pooch kick at mid-field when Wilson Nugent came away with the pignik. Things looked promising once again, but a 16 yard holding penalty wiped out a 21 yard pass from Brown to Hollister, and Gilmer was forced to punt the ball away.

The Dragons started from their 45, and didn't take but 4 plays and 40 seconds to move the 65 yards into the end zone for the third time on the evening. The score came with 25:4 seconds left in the opening quarter. The score came on a 12 yard pass from Smith to Sowards. Campos-Gonzalez was true on the kick, and Nac was back in front, 21-15.

After another kick out of the end zone Brown and the offense set up shop once again at their 25. It took just 46 seconds and 5 plays before the Buckeyes were in the end zone again. The score came on a 17 yard scamper by Brown with 11:29 left in the first half of play. Tate was good on the extra point, and Gilmer recaptured the lead, 22-21.

The Black Flag Defense rose to the occasion on the next Nac possession, forcing a three-and-out. After a short 34 yard punt, Brown and company were back in business at the Gilmer 33. They took just 1:20 and 5 plays to move the 67 yards to pay dirt once again. The score came on a 2 yard run by Brown with 7:15 left in the half. The PAT was true, but Gilmer extended the lead to 28-21.

After the Black Flag allowed just one first down on the next Nac possession, Brown and the offense began at their 45 after a very short 14 yard punt. The offense moved the 55 yards in 8 plays and took 2:14 off the clock before finding the end zone again. The score came on a 17 yard TD pass from Brown to 31 yard left in 2:51 left in the half. The 2-point try was no good, but the Buckeyes were ahead 34-21 and appeared to be gaining control of the game.

The Dragons made sure that was 11 the case though. They began at their 26 and took just 1:28 and 5 plays to move the 74 yards for a touchdown. The score came on a 51 yard pass from Smith to Sowards with 1:12 left in the first half. The extra point kick was good, and Nac narrowed the Gilmer lead to 34-28.

Not to be outdone, Gilmer started the final drive of the half at their 16. They moved the ball 75 yards in the final 1:12 of the half and consumed 11 plays. Barro hit a 36 yard field goal on the final play of the half, and the teams headed to the locker room with the home team up 37-28.

The Dragons received the second half kickoff, and moved 78 yards in 9 plays, but there was a fumble. Brown intercepted at the 36 and recovered the loose Jackson at the Dragons 47 and the offense took over again.

Unfortunately on the second play of the possession, Brown was intercepted at the 36 and the ball was returned down to the Buckeyes 15 and the visitors were back in business.

Nac moved into the end zone on the 15 and took 2:07 off the clock before Marcus Sweet ran in the 1 with 8:20 left in the third quarter. The PAT was good, and the Dragons were down by 2, 37-35.

Gilmer got the ball on their 32 after the ensuing kick, but after jerking up three first downs, the drive stalled, and a 16 yard field goal attempt by Tate ran out. The score was 37-31 in the quarter.

The Black Flag didn't allow but one first down on the next Dragon possession and after a punt to the Gilmer 47, Brown and company went on the attack again, and it only took 40 seconds and 3 plays before the Buckeyes extended the lead. The score came on a 12 yard pass to Laster with 2:27 left in the quarter. Barro's extra point try was good, and the Gilmer lead advanced to 44-31.

Following the kickoff, Nac got the ball at their 30 and went on a lengthy 14 play, 17 yard drive that consumed 5:18, resulting in another touchdown. The score came on a 2 yard run by Sweet with 10:09 remaining in the game. The extra point kick by Campos-Gonzalez was good, and the lead dwindled to 44-42.

The Buckeyes bounced right back on their next possession which began at the Gilmer 16. The move took 40 yards in 8 plays and took 2:23 before Webb ran into the end zone from 28 yards out with 7:36 left in the game for what would be the last Gilmer score of the evening. Barro nailed the PAT, and Gilmer led, 51-42.

The visitors refused to accept defeat without one more offensive battery. They took over after the kickoff at their 47 and moved the 53 yards in 9 plays and took 3:52 off the clock, and scored their final touchdown on a 6 yard run by Chad Lathan with 3:44 left in the game. The extra point was good, and the Gilmer lead was back down to 51-49.

The final kickoff of the night went into the end zone and Poppy and the offense went to the ground and pound running at tack and ran out the clock to end the contest and grab the win.

Coach Matt Trumb was obviously pleased with the win when we talked with him after the conclusion of the contest. "We hung in there and played it out. That's what you have to do tonight. We made a lot of really good plays tonight and we made some plays that we wish we had back. That's going to always happen. You've got to keep playing, and our guys did. We hung in there and made the plays offensively defensively and in the kicking game that we needed to make."

Wounded Coach Trumb about the resiliency the team showed after falling behind 14-0 early in the game. "We just didn't execute. We abused a coverage. I think our guys were ready to go, but they just didn't do what they needed to do. That's my job. I go to get them ready to do it. Once we got that kind of over, we settled in. Defensively, we had a few things we had to get adjusted to and we did, and then offensively we got going and were able to execute. So it was just a matter of executing. They were a good team, and you're not going to get any treebe, you're going to be able to not execute and get away with it. I told the guys it was just like last week. We had some good plays and we had some we've got to fix. We've got to keep getting better."

We ended our conversation by asking the Buckeyes how they thought about the 1950s-era Gilmer Hawks flying high into Gilmer in two weeks. They will mostly likely be 60 after an expected win over Humul Roys City on Friday. "We've got a lot of respect for them. Coach (Josh) Gilmer does a great job. They've got a lot of talent, they're playing well, you know, and that's what it is. We'll have to be as good as we can be, so we've got to keep working and be ready to play our best football. We'll watch them on film. Obviously we want to get a little better, look at them. They like to rush the football, and they throw it effectively too. They play good solid team defense too. They play good team defense, and just run to the ball and tackle you. They're just a good football team. They're solid in the kicking game and do things well there. They do the things good, well-coached teams do, so we'll have to be at our best. You know, that's a great challenge and a great opportunity."

Enjoy the open week next Friday night, but we sure to be in your seats and make noise on Oct. 13 when we open district action. We had way too many seats vacant in the Nacogdoches game. The Buckeyes need your presence at the game and need you voicing your support during the game!

Parish sentences nine on felony charges

By Phillip Williams

115th District Judge Lauren Parish sentenced nine persons on felony charges between Oct. 3 and Friday, said Upshur County District Attorney Billy Byrd's office.

Details were as follows, and all defendants either pleaded guilty or, in cases where probation was revoked, admitted violating terms of probation, the office reported.

April Dawn Read, 37, of Gladewater, drew one year in county jail Friday for unauthorized use of a vehicle.

Gilmer police investigated the Aug. 5 crime. Byrd represented the state at sentencing. Marshall attorney Brendan Roth represented Read.

Gary Floyd Brooks, 51, of Gilmer, drew two concurrent prison terms Friday in cases which Gladewater police investigated.

Brooks received 10 years for possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver—one gram or more but less than four grams of methamphetamine.

He also drew four years for unlawful possession of firearm by felon. Both offenses occurred Feb. 7.

Byrd represented the state at sentencing. Gilmer attorney Matthew Patton represented Brooks.

Matthew James Tysver, 27, of Great Bend, Kansas, was placed on seven years "deferred adjudication" probation Oct. 3 for assault—family violence—occlusion.

Deferred adjudication means no final conviction appears on defendant's record if he/she successfully completes probation. However, if such probation is revoked, the defendant can receive up to the maximum sentence for the offense.

The Upshur County Sheriff's Office investigated Tysver's Oct. 27, 2016 crime.

As were all defendants placed on probation last week, Tysver was ordered to pay court costs, a $50 fee for Crimestoppers, $100 to the crime victim fund, an attorney fee, and receive "life skills" training.

Some of the terms of his probation included a $100 donation to The Women's Center of East Texas, a $2,000 fine, 500 hours of community service, entering an anger intervention/batterer's intervention prevention program of at least 12-24 hours and having no contact with the victim.

Assistant District Attorney Rebecca Ojeman represented the state at sentencing. Longview attorney Edward Choy represented Tysver.

In a revocation case, Kelly Suzanne Nickel, 43, of Longview, drew 20 months in state jail Friday for possession of a controlled substance—less than one gram of cocaine.

The Texas Department of Public Safety investigated the April 13, 2016 offense. Assistant District Attorney Natalie Anderson and Patton handled the sentencing.

Gilmer resident Cobi Eugene Jones, who turns 53 Wednesday, was placed on three years deferred adjudication probation Friday for debit card abuse.

Gilmer police probed the Dec. 15, 2016 crime.

Some terms of probation include a $750 fine, $137.02 restitution to the victim, 400 hours of community service, undergoing an alcohol/drug evaluation and taking a class.

As of the end of the Reconciliation Period, SWEPCO calculates that it has over-recovered its Texas retail fuel, fuel related, and purchased-power costs by $4,384,730, excluding interest. Volkswagen recalls older Touareg SUVs to fix possible fuel leaks

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DETROIT — Volkswagen is recalling nearly 74,000 SUVs in the U.S. because a fuel pump flange can develop cracks and leak gasoline.

The recall covers Touareg SUVs with gasoline engines from 2004 to 2007.

It's part of a larger recall announced in July by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration involving flanges made by parts supplier Continental that could affect millions of vehicles.

The agency is investigating which vehicles are affected.

VW says the safety agency found consumer complaints about the problem. Aging oxidation can weaken the flanges and cause fuel leaks. These can leak fuel and cause fires, although documents don't mention any.

Dealers will inspect the flanges and replace them if necessary.

Those without cracks will get a protective cover.

Owners will be notified starting Nov. 19.

Chinese man admits sneaking snakes over border in socks

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BUFFALO, N.Y. — A man who was caught trying to sneak snakes into Canada in his socks has pleaded guilty.

Federal prosecutors in Buffalo say 28-year-old Chao Le faces up to five years in prison after pleading guilty Tuesday to violating wildlife regulations.

He was arrested in 2014 at the Lewiston-Queenston Bridge in western New York after Canadian border agents discovered three live albino western hognose snakes hidden in his socks. At first, Le said he'd found them in a New York park, but eventually admitted buying them.

Leaders start providing grants for Harvey recovery

ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON — The Harvey relief fund established by Houston's top elected leaders has issued its first grants, giving out $7.5 million to 28 organizations with an emphasis on getting people still displaced by the storm into temporary housing.

Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner, Harris County Judge Ed Emmett and other leaders of the fund announced the grants Tuesday.

They amount to less than 1 percent of the nearly $80 million raised so far by the Hurricane Harvey Relief Fund. More grants are expected to go out next month.

The groups receiving money are expected to spend it within 90 days and report back to the relief fund's board on how they used the money.

Nearly half of the organizations say their purpose for the money is to provide temporary housing or home repair.

Several groups also have committed to using the money for case management, linking people in need of help with the right aid groups to serve them.

At least $500 million has been raised by national and local groups serving the Texas Gulf Coast after the August storm, which killed at least 80 people, destroyed 200,000 homes and inundated much of Houston, the nation's fourth-largest city. Piles of rotting debris still sit outside many homes in Houston, and thousands of people remain in hotels or temporary housing after losing their homes.

Stephen Malsin, president of the Greater Houston Community Foundation, which is overseeing the local leaders' fund, said housing had to be solved first for many people.

"We need to give people an address," Malsin said.

Many of the various groups raising money for Harvey met in September to discuss how to coordinate their efforts and disburse money efficiently, he said.

The local relief fund's board also has asked the Kinder Institute for Urban Research, based at Rice University, to compile a review of Houston's greatest needs after the storm in hopes of determining how to best spend the money it's collected. The tentative goal is to use all of the money within a year.

Much of the money for Harvey relief has gone to the American Red Cross, which has raised an estimated $300 million. Local leaders have openly discouraged donors from giving to the Red Cross, which it blames for problems with the emergency shelters opened as Harvey was bearing down on Houston.

Sheriff: Traffic stop turns up assault rifles, 900 rounds

ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. — Federal agents are trying to determine why a man pulled over for speeding in Tennessee was carrying a cache of weapons including two submachine guns and 900 rounds of ammunition.

Deputies found Scott Edmisten, 43, of Johnson City, carrying a .357-caliber Magnum, a loaded .45-caliber semi-automatic, a .223-caliber fully automatic assault rifle, a .308-caliber fully automatic assault rifle, more than 900 rounds of ammunition, and survival equipment. Washington County Sheriff Ed Graybeal said Anytime you have several firearms and several hundred rounds of ammunition in a vehicle, that always causes a concern," said Michael Knight, an ATF spokesman.

Authorities still haven't determined why Edmisten was carrying all that firepower, but they "don't see a connection" to recent mass shootings, Knight said.

The arrest came a day after Stephen Paddock killed 59 people and wounded more than 500 in Las Vegas, firing down on a music festival crowd from a high-rise hotel suite. Some of the 23 guns in the suite were equipped with devices that enable a rifle to fire continuously, like an automatic.

"It's not connected to any of the other national incidents, but timing obviously was a concern," Knight said.

Knight said investigators are tracing where Edmisten's weapons came from.

"Our priority is reducing violent crime on the front end, so that's the other thing we're looking at, along with motive. Were these items going to be used for a criminal act or were they just being transported from one area to another area?"

Graybeal said Edmisten threatened his arresting officer and lunged toward investigators trying to question him. He's jailed without bond on charges of possessing prohibited weapons, speeding, and felony evading arrest. It's unclear if he has a lawyer.

Joint pain: Man charged with hiding weed in courthouse weeds

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SANFORD, N.C. — A North Carolina man has been arrested and charged with trying to hide marijuana in the bushes at a courthouse before a hearing on a possible probation violation.

Local media outlets reported that Lee County Sheriff Tracy

Carter and 21-year-old Teon Sharad LaShane Douglas of Sanford were arrested Monday after deputies saw him putting marijuana and a cellphone and some other items in the bushes at the courthouse.

The sheriff said narcotics officers saw Douglas put about 15 grams of marijuana in the bushes at the courthouse in Sanford.

Carter said Douglas was arrested after the probation hearing and charged with felony possession with intent to sell and deliver marijuana and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia. It was not known if Douglas has an attorney on the latest charges.

Police to arrest 10 in LSU fraternity pledge's death

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BAVON BOUGLE, La. — Ten people will be arrested on charges in the death of a Louisiana State University fraternity pledge after a night of drinking LSU officials said Wednesday.

One of the 10 suspects is Matthew Alexander Niquin, 19, of Boerne, Texas — also faces a negligent homicide charge in the death last month of 18-year-old Maxwell Granger — a freshman from Roswell, Georgia, LSU said in a statement.

Eight of the suspects are LSU students and were active members of the fraternity according to university spokesman Eric Ballou. He said all 10 are expected to be jailed Wednesday once they turn themselves in to LSU police. The hearing charges against all 10 suspects are misdemeanor.

How tender is the meat?

Dear Heloise: Is there any way to tell whether raw meat is tender by looking at it? Does the price have a lot to do with it, or the type of meat or how it's prepared? — Jack M., Little Rock, Ark.

Jack, look at the marbling in beef, which is the fat that runs through the meat. Generally, the more marbling the cut of beef has, the more tender and flavorful it will be.

However, the grade of meat can make a difference, too. There's a prime, which usually is found only in hotels or restaurants and is heavily marbled. Then come choice, select and commercial.

Look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture shield on the package to determine if a USDA inspector has graded the meat. A cheaper cut of beef can be marinated to help make it more tender, but remember to cook it slowly, at the right temperature and cut across the grain.

MEATLOAF MUFFINS

Dear Heloise: When I make meatloaf I use the instant onion soup packets. Instead of making it in a pan, I make the meatloaf in muffin tins. When the meatloaf is finished, I give each of our neighbors some of the meatloaf muffins, and they, in turn, make some solo dishes, which they share with other neighbors. — Susan R., via email

CAN STORAGE

Dear Heloise: I read your column in the Main (Haween) News. We need to store unopened canned goods and water (at room temperature) in the tropics during hurricanes.

How long can these goods be stored? — Mahabir K.C., Killeen, Maui

Aloha K.C.! For canned goods, it's always best to look to the expiration date stamped on the can. However, never store cans above a stove or under a sink, or in other place that's damp. High-acid foods such as tomatoes will keep at their best quality for 15 to 18 months. Low-acid foods such as meat and vegetables usually will last two to five years. NEVER use food from a can that leaks or is bulging, or from cracked jars.

Water can be stored safely in jugs that have been washed with soap and water, then sanitized with 1 tablespoon bleach to 1 quart of water. Rinse well with plain water. You should keep a four- to six-day supply of drinking water. Store in a dry, dark, cool place and water will keep for over a year. Don't drink it if it smells bad, or becomes "milky." Heloise

KEEPING IT GREEN

Dear Heloise: Because I live alone and a bag of greens lasts a long time, I line the bottom of a container with paper towels, a portion of the greens on that, and make another layer of paper towels and greens on top.

I have kept greens fresh and edible for two weeks! — Ruth B., via email

TSF announces 33rd season selections

By CHELSEA KATZ
news@kilgorenews-herald.com

Barley, two months after concluding the 32nd Texas Shakespeare Festival season, the company announced the lineup for the 33rd season.

Associate Artistic Directors Meghan and Matthew Simpson made the announcement on the festival's Facebook page and YouTube channel Friday afternoon, noting the season includes two TSF premieres.

As has become standard at TSF, the season's four main stage plays will consist of two plays by William Shakespeare, one non-Shakespearean play and one musical.

"The 2018 season will feature Loves Labour's Lost," "Tarantula," "King John" and "1110 in the Shade," along with a children's play and an Upstairs Space production that will be announced later this fall.

Shakespeare's "Loves Labour's Lost" will open the season, marking the return of the play that was previously part of the 2009 and 1994 seasons.

"A comic romp about a young king and his three friends who swear to avoid the company of women in favor of more intellectual pursuits, until they meet four beautiful young women who make it impossible for them to keep that vow," Matthew Simpson said during the announcement video. "Young as heart, criminally and full of nostalgia, Loves Labour's Lost is sure to delight audiences of all ages."

The TSF production will be set in the 1920s and feature popular songs from that period.

Molieres' "Tartuffe" also will make a return to Kilgore after being performed during the 2009 and 1989 seasons.

"We are bringing back one of dramatic literature's true comic masterpieces. When the kind, yet pious Oldmop invites a religious zealot named Tartuffe into his home, he has no idea what he has accepted a snake into his den," Meghan Simpson said in the video. "As the play unfolds, Oldmop's wife and son, through a series of deliciously vengeful moves, succeed in exposing Tartuffe as one of the world's most despicable hypocrites."

The final two main stage shows will be TSF premieres. The first is Shakespeare's play "King John."

"The play deals with John's unfortunate decisions and his human shortcomings," Matthew said, calling it one of the most dramatic periods in England's history. "Royal infighting about who is the rightful heir to the throne and the political and social unrest during King John's reign."

Although King John can be remembered as the king who was forced to sign the Magna Carta or who fought against Robin Hood, Matthew said Shakespeare avoids both of those story lines. Instead, the story is about "the fall of a weak king and the rise of a stronger one."

The play is full of "epic and memorable characters, and it offers our audience a chance to see a rare performance of one of Shakespeare's hidden gems," he said.

The season's final main stage show will be another premiere with the musical "1110 in the Shade" set in a drought-stricken western American town desperate for rain.

The 1964 musical is based on the Broadway play "The Rainmaker" by Richard Nash. "(It) tells a heartwarming story of young Lizzie Curry, who is convinced she will be a sprayer and Bill Starbuck, the charming city man who comes one town promising to make it rain," Meghan said. "It is a musical about the value of hope and the importance of dreams, the power of believing in something, it is a touching love story that reminds our faith in human nature and uplifts our human spirit."

2018 main stage shows to include two TSF premieres

In addition to the summer announcement, TSF also announced Tuesday the start of the fall TSF Roadshow.

This fall marks the Roadshow's move to October and November from the spring. TSF Guild members will get a chance to see a free performance of the educational traveling shows "The Taming of the Shrew" at 2 p.m. and "Shakespeare's Greatest Hits" at 4 p.m. on Sundays, Nov. 5 in the Festival Center's Upstairs Space.

Each show lasts about one hour with an abridged version of "The Taming of the Shrew" and a collection of scenes from Shakespeare's shows making up the "Shakespeare's Greatest Hits." Included among the scenes are "As You Like It," "Hamlet," "Twelfth Night," "Macbeth," "Othello" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Guild members interested in attending a performance should reserve their seat by calling 937-583-8119.

The holiday season will also see the return of the live radio play "It's a Wonderful Life" (see inset).

"We look forward to serving you at the theater this summer to celebrate another season, and we thank you for your support and patronage for the last 32 years."

Christmas classic returns for second radio play run

Lives still pretty wonderful at the Texas Shakespeare Festival

For the 2017 holiday production, the local company will once again host a live radio play performance adapting "It's a Wonderful Life" returning Dec. 8, 19 to the Upstairs Space in the TSF Center at 815 Housatonic St.

The play will feature TSF veterans Carlin Cavanagh, Micah Gooding, Stephen Short, Matthew Simpson, and Meghan Simpson.

According to the festival, "In this unique radio play version, the actors play multiple roles and use microphones in the style of a 1940s radio drama. This lively holiday adaptation is an inventive twist on a classic story, and will surely get you in the Christmas spirit."

Seating is limited in the Upstairs Space, and reservations are required. Online ticket sales for the show will begin Oct. 15 with general admission set at $20 per ticket, available via texasshakespeare.com.

INSPECTIONS

City Council members continued two part-time positions already on the books in the hopes of finally bringing someone on board as a full-time inspector and, consequently, freeing up staff time to increase food service monitoring.

"Part of the reason for the renewal is it is a minority for the council. The only way we've figured out how to be able to maintain that is by making it a permanent position and by offering a bit more consistent compensation," Kilgore City Manager Josh Seleck said. "We can't find anybody to do it on a part-time basis."

"We're taking a part-time health inspector and a part-time code enforcement officer, and we're combining those two positions to create a full-time inspector position."

Linked to a number of duties at City Hall, the new post will be particularly focused on building inspections.

"We're seeing a lot of growth right now, and it's very difficult to find anyone in an area who has the certifications and licenses to inspect from a building standpoint," Seleck noted. In recent years, "A big part of the challenge is when the council put the resources forward, we've not been able to find anybody who's certified to do that job."

The wages and hours of the two part-time positions equate to a full-time salary, and "by offering benefits we're trying to be able to keep someone a bit longer and be able to train them into a good long-term employee."

While building inspections addressed, Over and the new inspector will be able to focus on another council goal: more frequent health inspections.

"For the past several years for a long while there's had been no a complaint basis, just as a result of staffing levels," Seleck noted. "From the time council put forward the resources and made this position, it's been trying to get every restaurant at least annually. The goal is to be them once a year, which is what most cities do."

While certain inspections can be kept — daycare and schools, for example — some, like restaurants, have been put off during the last year and a half.

At the same time, "A number of restaurants have made improvements over the past couple of years," Seleck noted, "and they get their inspections at time of City certificate of occupancy."

With the FY18 budget in place, City Hall is making progress on hiring Seleck and the inspector position will be filled soon.

"We have a number of positions that were held vacant throughout this past year just making sure our budget made. We're getting through that now," he noted. "We've extended an offer of hire to a new animal control officer. The inspector position should be the next one powered and hopefully we'll have it filled soon."

Once posted, would-be applicants will be able to find details on the position at CityofKilgore.com.

"In the interim," Owen said, "we will want people to call in with complaints" at 937-584-5061.

Comptroller returns $281 million in unclaimed property to Texans

The Texas Comptroller's office returned $281 million in unclaimed property to its rightful owners during the past fiscal year, Comptroller Glenn Hegar announced.

Hegar said this amount breaks the previous record amount of $270 million returned in fiscal 2016 and marks the fifth consecutive record-breaking year.

"Each year we make a commitment to reunite unclaimed property with its rightful owners, and this record underlines that commitment," Hegar said. "I encourage all Texans to visit ClaimItTexas.org to see if the state is holding some of their unclaimed property."

The Comptroller's office has returned more than $2 billion to its rightful owners since Texas' unclaimed property program began in 1962. The state is currently holding more than $4 billion in cash and other valuables.

The $281 million in unclaimed property returned in fiscal 2017 includes forgotten utility deposits or other refunds, insurance proceeds, payroll checks, cashier's checks, dividends, mineral royalties, dormant bank accounts and abandoned safe-deposit box contents.

Businesses generally turn property over to the unclaimed property program after it has been considered dormant for one to five years.

There is no statute of limitations for unclaimed property the state holds, which means there's no time limit for owners to file a claim — they can do so at any time.

For more information about the unclaimed property program, or to search for unclaimed property and begin the claims process, visit the Comptroller's unclaimed property website, ClaimItTexas.org, or call 800-321-2274.

nal statement was supplemented in June 2017 by the "Addendum to the Committee's Policy Normalization Principles and Plans" which sets forth the expected pattern for gradually reducing the Fed's securities holdings by decreasing its reinvestment of the principal payments it receives from securities currently held.

While changing the target range for the federal funds rate will remain the primary means of adjusting monetary policy, the FOMC has indicated that it is prepared to resume reinvestment of principal payments received on securities if the economic outlook worsens.

As always, the Fed tries to be very clear with its plans in order to avoid shocking financial markets. Reducing the balance sheet will test the economy and financial system. When the Fed stops reinvesting in securities, liquidity is reduced. It's a necessary step, because the Fed has several trillion more in assets than it needs on a long-term basis. It is clearly a "Goldilocks" situation – the change must be not too fast and not too slow – as excessive movement in either direction will be disruptive. Unless there is a major shock to the economy, I think growth will continue even with the additional layer of normalization. And if it doesn't, the Fed stands ready and willing to respond. It is back in its wheelhouse, doing what it does best.

ly, screening for and preventing illnesses, and making sure people get much-needed prescriptions. Higher-rated plans also provide better customer service with fewer complaints or long waits for care.

3) If you need help comparing health or drug plans, it's readily available.

There are four places to turn for assistance:

— Visit www.medicare.gov/find-a-plan to compare your current coverage with new health or drug plans. If you want to make a change, the website will guide you to where to enroll in a new plan.

— Call Medicare's help line at 1-800-633-4227 at any hour and talk with a customer service representative.

— Consult your "Medicare & You 2018" handbook, which you should have received in the mail in the last few weeks. The book may also be viewed at www.medicare.gov.

— Get one-on-one benefits counseling through Texas' State Health Insurance Assistance Program. You may call

1-800-752-0240 for the counselors nearest you.

4) If you're on a tight budget, see whether you can get help paying for your prescriptions.

If you're having difficulty affording medications, you may qualify for the government's "extra help" program. The amount of help depends on your income and resources. Generally, you'll pay no more than $3.35 for each generic drug and $8.35 for each brand-name drug in 2018.

To qualify at present, your annual income can't be more than $18,330 if you're single or $24,600 if you're married. Also, your resources can't exceed $13,820 if you're single or $27,600 if you're married. Savings and investments count as resources, but homes, cars and personal belongings do not.

Thirty-two percent of Texans with a Medicare drug plan get extra help. To apply, visit the Social Security website, at www.socialsecurity.gov/i1020, or call Social Security at 1-800-772-1213.

There's no better time to check your Medicare coverage. Any changes you make will take effect on Jan. 1.

"Storms like Harvey and Irma and Superstorm Sandy are much larger than what have historically taken place," he said,

"and National Wildlife Federation believes that a lot of the intensity increase in these storms is due to global climate change and increases in sea-level temperatures."

He said some marine species on the Texas coast, such as shrimp and crabs, appear to have survived, while many oyster beds sustained losses. Marine mammals, such as bottlenose dolphins, may have been injured due to fresh-water inflows to bays and estuaries, since many coastal species can't survive outside a saltwater environment.

PURPLE SHADE

Impressive TCU still has lots of goals left to reach this season

BY STEPHEN HAWKINS
Assistant Pro

FORT WORTH — TCU coach Gary Patterson has what he considers a perfect illustration to show his eighth-ranked Horned Frogs all they still have left to try to accomplish. They see it every time they go into the team meeting room.

The Frogs are 4-0 with road wins at Arkansas and then No. 6 Oklahoma State in the last game of their open date. They have gone from unranked in the preseason to a top 10 team to start October.

But their pyramid of goals still has a lot of unblemished white space waiting to be shaded in purple.

"You guys see this. This pretty much sums it up," Patterson said, standing by the poster hanging at the front of the room. "You want to know how important the rest of the season is, and what Oklahoma State was. See that small sliver. See all the rest of this white. There's a lot of work to do."

They play their Big 12 home opener Saturday against No. 23 West Virginia (3-1, 1-0 Big 12), the school that TCU entered the Power Five conference with in 2012.

Nine levels of goals make up TCU's pyramid — yes, Patterson modeled his after UCLA and 10-time NCAA champion basketball coach John Wooden's pyramid of success. Goals reached are shaded in the school's color.

The bottom three levels for the Frogs are already fully purple. The bottom two rows are based on offense and on field building blocks like attitude, chemistry and accountability, and the third is for the three non-conference victories.

On a row labeled "Don't Back Down" to mark the five Big 12 road games, the first of the five is shaded as OSU. So there is only a thin strip of purple to signify the 44-31 win in Stillwater more than a week ago.

"Just a sliver of what we need to fully accomplish," safety Niko Small said Tuesday. "It's a whole pyramid. Just winning one part of it or not building a foundation, it could crumble. That's not really aesthetic to look at and just see a whole bunch of white through the purple. But once you see it, and there's a lot of purple on it, it looks a lot better."

The pyramid has been part of TCU's program throughout Patterson's time, from his 17 seasons as head coach. Each player signs the poster before the season, making their commitment to do their part to help accomplish those goals.

"It basically gives you a road map,"

Patterson said.

While there have been some minor adjustments over the years, the pyramid always points with the same goal — #1 National Champion. There are two rows for the Big 12 schedule, one for the home games and another for the road games, with postseason goals on top of that.

"We want to see that thing full purple," Patterson said. "We know it takes little bits and pieces every time."

Trump quips 'Liddle Bob Corker'

Feud between senator, president escalates as Republicans urge calm

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump lashed out at Sen. Bob Corker as "Liddle Bob Corker" on Tuesday, escalating a feud with the Tennessee Republican who's dubbed the White House an "adult day care center" and charged that Trump could be setting the nation on the path toward World War III.

Fellow Republican senators, trailing carefully, avoided siding with Trump or with Corker. But leading lawmakers called on both men to end a quarrel that could imperil the Republican agenda on Capitol Hill.

"Trump will need Corker if he is to get big tax changes through the Senate, where the narrow GOP majority was unable to repeal Barack Obama's Affordable Care Act."

And Corker also figures to be a key player if Trump moves as expected to unwind the Iran nuclear deal.

"I have a lot of respect for Senator Corker and what he brings to the Senate, but I think the president is leading in the right direction and I'm supportive of what he's doing."

Sen. Roy Blunt of Missouri, a member of the GOP leadership, said Tuesday at the Capitol, "I would encourage them both to stop what they're doing and get focused on what we need to be doing."

Sen. Cory Gardner, another high-ranking Republican, issued a similar plea at home in Colorado.

"I'm not going to get in the middle of this fight, but I don't think it's helpful to have finger-pointing and name-calling on either side," Gardner said.

"We need to have people focusing on one thing and one thing."

only, and that's what we're going to do to create more opportunity for the American people."

Trump's tweet Tuesday alleged that Corker was "set up" by "the falling" New York Times in a recorded interview Sunday.

Corker, who is not running for re-election, leveled scathing criticism at Trump in the interview and said the president's conduct "would have to concern anyone who cares about our nation."

Corker also said that Trump could set the U.S. "on the path to World War III" with threats toward other countries.

Trump responded to that charge Tuesday as he addressed reporters in the Oval Office while meeting with Henry Kissinger.

"We were on the wrong path before," Trump said. "All you have to do is take a look. If you look over the last 25 years, through numerous administrations, we were on a path to a very big problem, a problem like this world has never seen. We're on the right path right now, believe me."

Trump also disputed the suggestion that his spat with Corker would affect his efforts to pass tax reform.

"I don't think so, no, I don't think so at all," he said in response to a reporter's question. "I think we're well in our way."

Earlier, Trump took to Twitter to voice his grievances over Corker's New York Times interview, berating the senator's relatively short stature and writing that Corker "was made to sound a fool, and that's what I am dealing with."

Corker's office declined to respond, but a Times spokeswoman, Danielle Rhoades, said, "The interview with Senator Corker was on the record, and he knew it was being recorded."

Corker's comments echoed what some Republicans say privately and drew public backing from another Republican who's announced his retirement, Rep. Charles Dent of Pennsylvania, who said more Republicans should be willing to speak out against Trump.

He said he had another connection to Dworsky: a high school classmate, Mabel Mae Parish, who was Dworsky's history teacher when Dworsky attended Lamar Consolidated High School in Rosenberg.

Dworsky said his wife, Sally, made the couple's first contribution to United Way while she worked for an accounting firm and he started as a chemical engineer at Eastman. And Dworsky recalled Dolive and other co-workers recruited him to volunteer in fundraising campaigns for the United Way during the early 1960s.

"One of my early assignments was calling on the (now-defunct) Ice House downtown," Dworsky said. "It took me about three visits for me to catch the manager, and I would get a $10 donation."

Dworsky said he called on as many as 10 businesses during the annual fund drive, which lasted a few months. "I am still doing it, and I worked my way up to be first of all, to be chairman of one of the solicitation divisions, which at that time was called the Industrial Division," he said.

Dworsky said he headed that division in the late 1960s or early 1970s, and recruited volunteers to solicit donations over the phone or in person at businesses.

He later became chairman of the entire fund drive during the 1970s.

"We had direct responsibility for probably about eight divisions, and we had to recruit division personnel and help them recruit their workers," he said.

Disasters typically depress state economies in the short term — closing down retail stores and harming sales tax collections, for instance — before rebuilding injects a stimulus.

Gov. Greg Abbott issued a statement expressing his condolences and saying he had mobilized state law enforcement resources to aid in the investigation. State Attorney General Ken Paxton went to the school Tuesday to show support.

Texas passed a law last year allowing students with concealed carry permits to bring guns into university classrooms and buildings. But a person must be at least 21 years old to get a concealed carry permit in Texas, so Daniels wouldn't qualify.

The state Democratic Party apologized Tuesday for a tweet it sent linking the campus carry law to Monday's shooting.

The party had tweeted that, allowing guns on college campuses "was a dumb and dangerous idea" but later backtracked and deleted the tweet.

Dworsky said he chaired divisions until about a decade ago and was named to the board of directors. Retired since 1999, he serves as a nonvoting board member. Dolive said he did not seek a leadership role.

"I wanted just to be a volunteer and go out and meet the people," he said.

Dolive and Dworsky, who are close friends, have similar motivations for supporting the United Way.

"You are helping people give of yourself and to give to those in need," Dolive said.

Both men drew high marks from Donna Sharp, executive director of the United Way since April 2015. She cited Dworsky for his leadership and his community service and Dolive for being a community partner and "a great advocate for the work we are doing in Longview."

The Greater Longview United Way was chartered in 1947 as The Community Chest of Longview.

Its articles of incorporation are dated Oct. 10, 1947, and contain the signatures of business leaders at the time: R. Coffey, J.W. Dennis, M.H. Blivins, W.A. Nicholson, Oliver Daniel, R.C. Person, J. Marcus Wood, Hugh Sawyer, Bob Gargill, Elmer Jegen, B.W. Sunkel, G.A. McCright, George Dickinson Sr., R.S. Hugill and Earl Sharp, who is Donna Sharp's father-in-law.

Its name changed in 1958 to the Greater Longview United Fund. The United Way became the Greater Longview United Way in 1982 and became a member of the national organization.

The United Way has an allocation of $750,000 for this fiscal year and serves 22 agencies and 37 programs, Sharp said.

Daniels' room to perform a welfare check and found evidence of drugs and drug paraphernalia. East arrested Daniels and took him to the campus police station to book him.

According to Bonds, the 19-year-old woman handcuffed while East was processing the paperwork.

Another officer left the room and then heard a loud bang. When he returned, he found East mortally wounded and Daniels gone. East's body camera also was missing, but his service weapon still was holstered.

Barnath said Daniels "pulled a gun" and shot East at the station, but he didn't specify whether it was a gun Daniels had on him or one that belonged to the department. He also didn't say whether East checked Daniels for weapons when arresting him, and he didn't take questions.

The campus was locked down for about an hour Monday night and the school's more than 34,000 students were ordered to shelter in place during the search.

Daniels was recaptured after a foot chase near the police station. He had the body camera and a handgun, Bonds wrote.

Barnath said that during the lockdown, the university's counseling center told police that Daniels' family had called to say he might be suicidal and might have a gun.

It wasn't clear whether the chief meant they called the center before or after East was shot, and school officials didn't respond to messages seeking additional details.

Daniels, who is from Seguin, is charged with capital murder of a peace officer and is being held in the Lubbock County jail on a $5 million bond. On-line law records don't indicate whether he has an attorney who can speak on his behalf.

He's had prior run-ins with the law. Daniels was charged two years ago in Guadalupe County, which includes Seguin, with possession of drug paraphernalia, but the case was dismissed. The Lubbock County sheriff's office confirmed that Daniels was arrested in Sept. 2016 on charges of marijuana possession and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Daniels is the son of H. A. "Don" Daniels, a widely known figure in Seguin.

The elder Daniels was a city councilman from 1998 to 2002 and again from 2006 to 2010. His term limits prevented him from running for re-election. He didn't immediately reply to phone messages seeking comment that were left at the family's home for a busy signal.

The university's president, Lawrence Schovanec, said East's family is in the thoughts and prayers of the Texas Tech community.

East, 48, joined the department as a guard at the El Paso office in 2016 and became an officer in May.

It was his first job in law enforcement, according to the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement. Schovanec said East was married, with two young daughters.

"I want to express my deep appreciation to the Texas Tech Police Department, Lubbock Police Department, Lubbock sheriff's office, and other state and federal law enforcement officials for their response," Schovanec said.

Gov. Greg Abbott issued a statement expressing his condolences and saying he had mobilized state law enforcement resources to aid in the investigation. State Attorney General Ken Paxton went to the school Tuesday to show support.

round of shots rang out, Al Etcheberry said.

He has not heard from Stacey since, and she was not carrying an ID.

"It's been a grueling 15 hours with no information," Al Etcheberry said.

Stacey, 56, works as a hairdresser.

"She's just a loving wife, a great mother. She's tough as nails and just the salt of the earth," Al said.

Alaska woman was local hockey fan

Dorene Anderson was the second person from Anchorage, Alaska, confirmed killed in the mass shooting in Las Vegas, her husband's employer said Monday.

Anderson's husband, John, works for the Alaska Housing Finance Corp. The CEO of the organization sent an email to employees Monday informing them that Dorene had been killed in the shooting.

Anderson described herself on her Facebook page as a stay-at-home wife and mother whose outside interest was a passion for the Alaska Aces, a minor league hockey team that recently disbanded and was sold to the parent company of the NHL's Philadelphia Flyers. She had been a member of the Aces' "Cowbell Crew."

Stacy Shubert, the director of governmental relations and public affairs for the corporation, told The Associated Press that the family has requested privacy.

Off-duty officer coached kids, was leader

Off-duty Las Vegas police officer and youth football coach Charleston Hartfield was among those killed, two of his friends said.

Hartfield, 34, was known as a selfless, respected leader who brought out the best in his players, said Stan King, whose son played football for Hartfield.

Troy Rhet, another friend of Hartfield's through football, said he knew from social media that Hartfield was attending the Sunday concert. When he heard about the shooting, he texted him, hoping to learn Hartfield was safe. He never heard back, and Rhet said he learned through another friend Monday morning that Hartfield had died.

Hartfield, who also went by "Chuck" or "Charles" or even "Chuck Hart," was also a military veteran and leaves behind a son and a daughter. Hartfield is also listed as author of a book titled "Memories of Public Service" about his time as a Las Vegas police officer.

Alaska fisherman had a hearty laugh

Commercial fisherman Adrian Murfit, 35, of Anchorage, Alaska, was also among the slain, a family member said Monday.

This undated photo provided by Avonna Murfit shows her son, Adrian Murfit, of Anchorage, Alaska, who was one of the people killed Sunday when a gunman opened fire at a country music festival in Las Vegas.

His sister, Shannon Gothard, said the family heard from one of Murfit's friends who was with him when he died, though they haven't received official confirmation about his death.

Asked if the family was holding out hope that he made it after all, she said, "No."

Gothard described her brother as a man with a hearty laugh and a former competitive hockey player who still dabbled in the game.

After graduating from high school, he became a fisherman, picking up odd jobs in the offseason.

He had just come off an extremely successful fishing season when he made the trip to Las Vegas with some good friends, Gothard said.

Her brother was happy to pay some things off and had made some really good money and decided to go out and celebrate and to the concert and treat himself to something nice and fun, she said.

Friend helped get wounded student out

Kareissa Royce, a 22-year-old Las Vegas local, was rushed to an ambulance by a friend after she was shot in the shoulder, said Marissa Nino, her cousin who is acting as a family spokesperson.

Royce, a student at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, is in the intensive care unit following surgery for a collapsed lung. She is expected to survive, Nino said. Royce had no identification on her at the concert, so it took the family some time to locate her, Nino said.

Royce is one of five children and is studying hospitality. Royce's friend "definitely saved her life," Nino said. Royce cannot speak, but her friend shared what happened with the family and has been in the hospital by Royce's side since, Nino said.

West Virginia woman died in husband's arms

While the sun was still shining Sunday at the Route 91 Harvest Festival in Las Vegas, Denise Burditt posted a photo on Facebook of herself and her husband standing in front of the stage, smiling broadly.

Later, after news of the mass shooting spread, a friend asked simply, "Are you two ok?"

Burditt never replied. MetroNews, a West Virginia-based radio network, reported that Tony Burditt wrote on his Facebook page that his wife was among the victims.

"It saddens me to say that I lost my wife of 32 years, a mother of two, soon to be a grandmother of five this evening in the Las Vegas shooting," Tony Burditt wrote. "Denise passed in my arms. I LOVE YOU BABE."

Denise Burditt's Facebook page includes a photo of her and her husband at the same festival last year. Monday, the hotel where the gunman opened fire, is shown in the background.

Kind-hearted nurse protected wife

Sonny Melton, a registered nurse, died in the shooting, according to The Henry County Medical Center in Paris, Tennessee, where he worked.

His wife, Dr. Heather Melton, an orthopedic surgeon who was with him when she was shot, survived, the medical center said.

Heather Melton told WZTV in Nashville, Tennessee, that her husband "saved my life and lost his." She says her husband was the most kind-hearted, loving man she ever met.

Friend Jeremy Butler told the Paris (Tennessee) Post-Intelligencer that Melton was shielding Heather Melton from gunfire when he was fatally shot.

'Woman of strong faith' is recovering

Danne Gibbs has always been a huge fan of country music concerts, said her friend, Jennifer Draper of Cedar Park, Texas, and she was there to be at the concert.

Draper wrote in an email to The Associated Press that Gibbs, 21, who recently graduated from Texas Tech University in Lubbock, was shot at the concert in Las Vegas and is recovering.

Draper started a GoFundMe page to help Gibbs and her family with the medical expenses. On the page is a photo of Gibbs wearing a graduation cap and red Converse sneakers, jumping in the air with a huge smile in front of her university.

"Danne is a strong young woman, and I firmly believe she will make it through this long road to recovery," Draper wrote. "She is a woman of strong faith and has hundreds of people praying for her. We love Danne and cannot wait to see her."

Real estate agent shot repeatedly, survived

Real estate agent and father of three older children Rob McIntosh, 52, of North Pole, Alaska, was near the front of the stage with friends when the shooting began, according to friend and real estate broker Mike Vansickle. He was hit repeatedly but survived, Vansickle said.

"From just getting off the phone with the family, he took three bullets to his body," said Vansickle. "He just came out of surgery, and he's going to make it."

In a personal note on his real estate website, McIntosh describes himself as enjoying the outdoors in Alaska, where he also operates a business called Santa's Fireworks.

"Whether I'm hiking, snow machining, hunting, steel welding or building my own home or cabin, I stay active all year round," McIntosh wrote. Vansickle described McIntosh as being strong.

"He's been through lots of adversity," said Vansickle. "He'll get through all this and come out with some stories to tell."

High school secretary remembered as loving

Lisa Romero, a high school secretary from Gallup, New Mexico, was an "incredible loving and sincere friend, mentor and advocate for students," the Gallup-McKinley County Public Schools interim superintendent said Monday.

Officials announced a candlelight vigil in honor of Romero, 44, died sometime after a 64-year-old man fired multiple weapons.

School district worker 'was always smiling'

Susan Smith, 53, a resident of Simi Valley, California, near Los Angeles, had worked for the local school district since 2001 as the office manager at Vista Elementary School.

"Susan was wonderful with the kids and the staff and was an integral part of the school community here," said Jake Finch, the public information officer for the district. "She was the hub of everything that happened at the school. If a kid is sick, she's the one calling the parents and no matter how chaotic things got here, she was always smiling."

Finch said the school district learned about Smith's death from friends who had been with her at the music festival. She said when teachers and other staff members in the district and at the school arrived early Monday morning, most of them had not yet heard that Smith was among those who were killed.

She said counselors were dispatched to the school to talk to both staff members and students and when students were told, they took part in activities such as writing letters and making cards for Smith.

"It doesn't sound like much, but it gives kids something to latch on to, to make sure they felt like they were able to help in some way," she said.

Mother, mechanic's apprentice among killed

Two Canadians — a mother of four and a man just days from his 24th birthday — were among those killed in the shooting.

Jessica Klymchuk, of Valleyview, Alberta, and Jordan McElchison, 21, of Maple Ridge, British Columbia, died Sunday night in Las Vegas.

Klymchuk, 26, was an educational assistant, librarian and bus driver for St. Stephen's School, said the Holy Family Catholic Regional Division.

"The scope of this tragedy is worldwide, and we are feeling its impact here at home," the division's superintendent, Betty Turpin, said in a statement.

A post on Klymchuk's Facebook page says she got en-know that. There was blood everywhere I went. Excalibur, Luvor on the Strip, on the street," Ledbetter said. "All these people are going to have PTSD. I feel bad for all of them."

Another concertgoer, Anna Kupchyn, credits a man she knows only as Zach for saving her life and about nine others when he herded them into an outdoor trailer serving as a restroom.

Kupchyn, a 27-year-old low student from Los Angeles, said bullets were raining down on the crowd as she and a handful of others began running in search of a way out of the outdoor venue.

The man, Zach, opened a door and ordered people inside and then joined them and shut the door, Kupchyn said.

They stayed inside as the shooting continued, everyone paralyzed in fear, she said.

"Then security came and they shouted for us to get out, to run," she recalled. Outside the trailer, dead bodies were sprawled on the ground, including a man who had been shot in the head, she said.

She and her best friend Leslie Aguilar, a 26-year-old therapist, eventually jumped in a cab that was driving by and befriended two other women survivors who let them stay in their hotel room until the danger subsided.

Not all of Sunday night's heroes survived.

Sonny Melton, a registered nurse, died in the shooting, according to The Henry County Medical Center in Paris, Tennessee, where he worked.

His wife, Dr. Heather Melton, an orthopedic surgeon who was with him when she was shot, survived, the medical center said.

Sit in the stands at any football game and you will hear the opinion of 20 to 30 coaches. No, they are not the ones standing on the sidelines. They are sitting in the stands offering their opinion on what should be done. These "coaches" in the stands see the shortcomings, but do not walk with the players through the week and through practices. They simply sit in the bleachers during the game and voice their opinion. They don't have to do anything, just speak.

The unusual thing is, these "coaches" don't seem to be vocal when the team is winning. They are usually the loudest when the team is losing. There are two characteristics about these "coaches" that seem to resonate with life and the church. First, they do not participate, and second, they never get to see the whole picture.

First, they do not participate. Many times, the loudest critics are the ones that do not participate in the work. They are spectators. They may come to activities and watch, but they do not get involved in the work. They want things to be done, but they want other people to do them. This trait is found in people of every organization. Instead of working for a solution, they continually voice a problem.

Second, they don't get to see the big picture. Since they are not involved in the work, they are not able to see the things that are being accomplished. The spectator only sees the faults, not the successes. For instance, the spectator gets upset because the coach keeps having the quarterback throw the football. The teams running game is much better than their passing game.

What the spectator doesn't know is that for months the coach has been working with the quarterback on passing. However, the only way to truly see if the skill has been learned is under pressure during the game. The spectator is upset about the incomplete passes and the coach is trying to help develop a quarterback. Spectators don't get to see the big picture because of the first characteristic, they do not participate.

In speaking to the church, the author of Hebrews writes in 10:24, "And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds." How are you doing in your church? To truly spur one another forward you will have to participate so that you can see the big picture. As a believer, you are called to be an active member of the body, not a spectator in the pews. Serve your church.

Dear Morris County Citizens,

Words cannot express how grateful and appreciative I am to have been elected to serve you all as your Morris County Judge, however, for personal reasons, after much prayer and consideration I have decided to retire after this term is fulfilled, December 31, 2018.

Having judicial and administrative duties requires making decisions that can be easy, hard, happy, or sad. Sometimes it is frustrating to see things needing to be done but never happen. My favorite part of this job and the most gratifying is listening when someone just needs to talk or help someone find answers to problems or issues they are having.

I love Morris County and believe we have the best people living here. I want this area to thrive, in order to do so, it takes everyone working together with positive attitudes.

I intend to continue serving by volunteering, taking part in activities, and keeping in contact with our legislators. I will continue watching as they file bills which affect counties and our lives personally.

I challenge all of you to do the same and be aware of the unfunded mandates, created when programs are added but not paid for by the state. If the legislature thinks a program is important they need to pay for it or not pass it!

In this session, the House of Representatives passed a bill for a constitutional amendment to stop unfunded mandates, however, the Senate did not even consider the issue. It is the constitutional responsibility of the Texas Legislature to fund public education adequately. Adequately does not mean minimum standards. I do not find this acceptable and we must not settle for low standards. In the past few years the legislature has reduced the state's contribution to our schools from 50% to 38%, placing more burdens on local taxpayers!

When you look for reasons your taxes are increasing check on these two issues, unfunded mandates and school funding. Do not believe a bill will lower your taxes without first educating yourself on the contents of the bill.

If you believe your taxes are too high, contact your legislators on these two issues, then demand they find other options, rather than increasing your ad valorem taxes to support the services required and needed by our citizens.

Again, I thank all of you who entrusted me with this honor allowing me to serve as your Morris County Judge for these two terms.

Sincerely,

Lynda Munkres

NTCC to host art exhibit at Whatley site

Northeast Texas Community College's Art Department will host its second art exhibit of the 2017-2018 school year through October 27 in the foyer of the Whatley Center for the Performing Arts.

The show, "Crystal & Glass," will feature watercolor paintings by artist Mollie Jones. A reception with the artist will be held Thursday, October 5 at 12:30 p.m. in the Whatley Center foyer. Refreshments will be served.

Jones is a nationally recognized award-winning watercolorist and workshop teacher who works exclusively in transparent watercolor. A self-taught artist, she enjoys a passion for painting crystal glass, silver, and anything reflective in nature. She lives and works in a red barn south of Tyler, Texas and shares her farm with her husband, a diva cat, chickens, and an abundance of flower gardens.

"In my transparent watercolor paintings, I strive to show how light and values and the skill of drawing almost always insure a successful painting...both for me and for those seeing my work," Jones said. "The love of drawing has always been important with my art, and I consider myself a representational realist in that realism is a must in my paintings."

Mollie is a member of the American Watercolor Society, National Watercolor Society, Transparent Watercolor Society, and holds Signature Status with the Texas Watercolor Society, Georgia Watercolor Society, Southwestern Watercolor Society, and the Wyoming Watercolor Society.

The exhibit is free and open to the public Monday-Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. Please call 903-434-8181 before visiting to ensure that the gallery is open.

The Basics of the National Vow is in Ours. Ecuador. It is a beautiful work of architecture that began in 1884. Today, you can visit the Basics and stand amazed at its beauty. Here's a neat fact: The Basics is still unfinished. About 133 years after construction was started, the building is still not finished. There is a legend that says when the building is finished, it will be the end of the world. That sounds like a recent prediction that made the news. This building was the idea of Julio Matoselli, but he never saw the finished product.

I remember visiting the National Cathedral in Washington, DC. As we walked through this beautiful work of architecture, I was told buildings like this one would never be built again. The person said that people were too impatient and wanted immediate results. (It took 83 years to build the National Cathedral.) He continued to tell me that most people are not willing to invest in something they will not be able to see completed in their lifetime.

When we do not see results, we get tired. Tiredness often leads to quitting. We easily give up. In our spiritual lives, the same thing can happen. Following in the light of Christ is hard. Yes, you are enabled by the Holy Spirit, but there are difficulties. Paul told the church in Galatia, "And let us not grow weary of doing good, for in due season we will reap, if we do not give up" (Gal 6:9). Sometimes the right thing seems to not work. We get frustrated. The resistance we meet in trying to do good is overwhelming at times. What do we do?

First, the work we do here on earth in our own lives and in the lives of others may never yield results that we can see. There are things that you do and you will never know the impact that was made. Second, we understand that we trust in the Word of God: no matter our circumstances. When you find yourself in the middle of temptation and sin, victory can be hard. Do not grow weary of doing good. Choose what is right by Scripture and hold fast.

Some of you may be tired of teaching Sunday School, going to church, or battling the same temptations, repeatedly. You may be ready to give up or throw in the towel. You may just be tired of everything. Hold fast to Scripture and what is good. Keep doing good. God sees your faithfulness and the results of your work, even in your struggle.

Capital Highlights- Governor applauds Tx-DOT efforts in removal of hurricane debris

AUSTIN — Gov. Greg Abbott on Sept. 27 announced the Texas Department of Transportation had collected more than 2.4 million cubic feet of debris left behind by Hurricane Harvey in roadways across the four districts hardest hit by the storm. TxDOT is continuing to assist in the removal of debris from roadways in Corpus Christi, Houston, Beaumont and a number of areas along the Gulf Coast region, Abbott said in a news release.

"This is a tall order, but I want to assure Texans that TxDOT is up to the challenge and has already made great progress. We will not rest until this important job is finished, and we are working to do so as quickly as possible," he added.

Texas Transportation Commission Chair Bruce Bugg Jr. pointed to TxDOT's "remarkable progress" in bringing agency employees from across Texas to impacted areas. He made special mention of those working through the protracted cleanup while General James H. to the personal losses caused by Hurricane Harvey.

More than 600 employees from all 25 TxDOT districts are involved in debris removal in areas impacted by Hurricane Harvey, Bugg said.

Patrick assigns tasks. Lt. Gov. Dan Patrick on Sept. 28 issued a list of interim legislative charges to certain committees of the Texas Senate.

Patrick called for the committees on Agriculture, Water and Rural Affairs, Business & Commerce, Education, Finance, Health and Human Services, Intergovernmental Relations, and State Affairs to study and make recommendations on a wide range of issues related to hurricanes and other severe weather events.

Texas are nominated. The White House on Sept. 28 announced President Donald Trump's nomi-ination of Texas Supreme Court Justice Don Willett and former Texas Solicitor General James H. to the New Orleans-based United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

The Fifth Circuit hears cases on appeal from federal district courts in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and the Panama Canal Zone. It is authorized to have 17 active judges.

Gov. Abbott on Sept. 28 released the following statement: "The nomination of Don Willett and James H. to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals are outstanding choices by President Trump. As Texas attorney general, I had the pleasure of working with both Don and James and can attest to their brilliance as lawyers and their unwavering commitment to the rule of law. I look forward to their swift approval by the U.S. Senate and to their service on the 5th Circuit, where I know they will uphold the Constitution."

Abbott posts reaction

reacraus in Washington," Abbott added.

AARP, the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association have refuted assertions that the current healthcare law, widely known as Obamacare, is broken, and did not support passage of the Graham-Cassidy bill.

Men...Get Serious!

Men, let's get real. I have spoken with too many widows about the premature death of their spouses. It is time to stop making excuses. It is time to stop blaming yourself or others. It is time to take charge of your life and get healthy!

According to the Centers for Disease Control, Leading Causes of Death by Race/Ethnicity All Males-United States, 2014 Report: the number one cause of death is heart disease.

The Mayo Clinic website lists these strategies to prevent heart disease:

1. Don't smoke or use tobacco
2. Exercise for about 30 minutes on most days of the week
3. Eat a heart-healthy diet

4. Maintain a healthy weight
5. Get enough quality sleep
6. Manage stress
7. Get regular health screenings

Men, if you want to live without blood pressure or cholesterol medication and avoid a heart attack follow the guidance of the Mayo Clinic. In my early 50's I lost 40 pounds by slight changes to my dietary intake, increased my walking and taking a few herbal supplements. I want to live many more decades being strong and healthy without taking any one bad habit.

Quit all tobacco and alcohol use immediately! If you need help there are innumerable support groups available.

Start walking and lifting weights. Got weights, lift the heavy wrenches in your tool box or join a fitness center. Get up and move!

Start losing weight today if you are fat. Most men are fat. Stop calling yourself a Big Dog or some other stupid nickname. Take pride in your appearance.

Stop eating greasy fast food, donuts and cut out sweet drinks. Eat more raw or steamed vegetables; load up on salad. Your taste buds will change. I have spoken with many men who changed their bad habits to healthy lifestyles.

Drink more water. This helps us lose weight and detox the poisons of sugar and grease. I drink at least one half my body weight in ounces of water daily.

Stress is a killer. I stopped trying to "fix" my problems and gave God my worries and concerns. I became calm and focused and have a new passion for life, family and health.

In conclusion, heart disease is the #1 killer for men so we must radically change our lifestyles. If YOU do not radically change your life, life events will force you radically change your life!

If you need an encouraging word or someone with whom to be accountable, please, contact me. I will help however I can. Let's work together to live long and healthy lives!

Please, pray to God for wisdom and direction prior to beginning any new therapy or exercise routine, seek advice from medical professionals. Every body is different.

TC Notes-Texarkana College's New Career Magazine helps with Career Decisions

SOAH Docket No. 473-17-5931
PUC Docket No. 47553

Choosing a career can be tough and there are many questions you'll ask yourself along the way. What do I love doing? What am I good at? Will I earn the income I need to live comfortably and support my family? How long will my education or training take? Texarkana College has been a great place to start or start over since the first class was held in September 1927. Since then, we've helped hundreds of thousands of individuals navigate the tricky task of choosing the best career for them and earning the college degree, certificate or credential that will help them land their dream jobs.

This fall, TC launched a tool to help you navigate your decisions in choosing a career pathway. The Career Spotlight magazine is an overview of Texarkana College's career and technical programs. The magazine is available in print at TC or you can view it online at www.texarkanacollege.edu/careerspotlight. Explore our programs listed in this publication and think hard about what you want to do for the rest of your life. When you're ready, give our Enrollment Services staff a call at (903) 823-3012 or visit texarkanacollege.edu/tour to schedule your campus visit. Whatever your choice, we can help you get there.

COLLEGE PROGRAMS AREN'T ONE SIZE FITS ALL. When it comes to career and technical training, TC offers a variety of program types and formats to fit your unique needs. Our programs range in length from five weeks to two years, and there are different types available: associate of applied science degrees, certificates, and noncredit training that will help you pass certification exams with flying colors. Here's a breakdown of the different types of programs you will find at TC.

ASSOCIATE OF APPLIED SCIENCE. A technical degree that puts intensive career training with general education courses. Typically takes 2 years to complete. Financial aid is available.

CERTIFICATE. Intensive career training designed to teach you the skills you need to move into an entry-level job.

Typically takes from one semester to one year to complete, depending on the program. Financial aid is available.

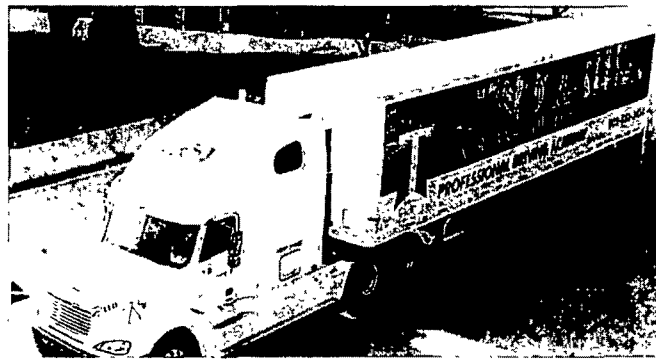

NON-CREDIT (ALSO REFERRED TO AS CONTINUING EDUCATION). Programs that provide valuable career training in a wide variety of fields but do not award college credit. Many programs prepare you to take state certification exams. Programs can range from several weeks to one year. Traditional financial aid is not available, but funding assistance may be available to students who meet certain criteria.

Why have thousands of students chosen Texarkana College to reach their higher education goals? First, it's affordable and accessible. Students who choose to start at a community college or earn a workforce certificate rather than starting at a university can save tens of thousands of dollars in tuition. And that lower price tag delivers major value. TC's highly qualified instructors are dedicated to making sure you graduate with the skills and abilities you need to succeed in the workplace. In workforce programs, you'll learn from instructors who bring valuable real-world experience to your training. Whether you're fresh out of high school or starting your college education later in life, everything at TC is designed to help you achieve your goals.

Come see us: we have three locations to serve you! Texarkana College Main Campus- 90-acre campus with a 2-acre nature preserve, a full service recreation center and gym with Olympic-sized heated swimming pool, a cafe and student center, library and access to tutors and student support services. PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT- TC PROFESSIONAL DRIVING ACADEMY

In just five weeks, you can receive a credential that will lead to a high-demand career that pays well and provides benefits. Located at TC@TexArkana Center in New Boston, Texas, this program will prepare you to take the Department of Transportation exams—including the general knowledge, Class A & B Combination Vehicle and Air Brake exams.

And, if people want to get their CDL and find a great job in the trucking industry but they aren't sure whether to enroll in Texarkana College's Professional Driving Academy. If you're on the fence, here are a few frequently asked questions that might help you decide whether the academy is right for you.

What are the requirements to get my CDL? You must be at least 18 to qualify for a CDL, have no more than two traffic violations (such as speeding, accidents or reckless driving) in the past three years and no DWIs or DULs in the past 10 years. Trucking companies usually look for drivers with no felonies (violence or drug-related) in the past 10 years, but each circumstance is dealt with on a one-on-one basis. You'll also need to pass a drug screen and the basic physical required by the Department of Transportation.

Is financial aid available for this program? Because this is a non-credit course, your typical federal aid student is not available. However, career training loans are available through Sallie Mae and often through local credit unions such as Texas Federal Credit Union and Red River

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR AUTHORITY TO RECONCILE FUEL COSTS

Southwestern Electric Power Company (SWEPCO) petitioned the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) on August 28, 2017 for authority to reconcile its eligible fuel expenses and revenues for the period from March 1, 2014 through February 28, 2017 (Reconciliation Period). This application, if granted, will affect all Texas retail customers.

During the Reconciliation Period, SWEPCO incurred a total of $670,859,057 in eligible fuel, fuel-related expenses, and purchased-power costs to generate and purchase electric energy for its Texas retail customers, as well as expenses associated with environmental consumables and emission allowance costs allocated to its Texas retail customers. As of the end of the Reconciliation Period, SWEPCO calculates that it has over-recovered its Texas retail fuel, fuel related, and purchased-power costs by $4,384,730, excluding interest. Including interest, SWEPCO's cumulative over-recovery balance is $4,459,126 as of February 28, 2017.

Tractor Supply stores reap efficiency savings

AMARILLO, Texas (Oct. 5, 2017) — Ever since John Wamaker amazed shoppers in his famous Philadelphia department store with electrical lights in 1878, retailers have understood the value of effective lighting in presenting merchandise in the most favorable light.

And while early pioneers in retail illumination spent no expense to dazzle their customers, today's lighting strategies are equally focused on reducing costs. When Tractor Supply stores in Xcel Energy's Texas and New Mexico service area started looking for a way to improve their lighting schemes, Xcel Energy provided guidance on how to employ LED lighting in the most cost-effective way.

Through Xcel Energy's commercial lighting rebate program, the stores were able to improve the customer experience while reducing their annual electrical costs.

More efficient use of energy is an important part of Tractor Supply's Stewardship Program, the company's focus on operating more efficiently, eliminating waste and reducing impact on the environment. In line with these goals, six Tractor Supply stores in Texas (Amarillo, Dalhart, Hereford, Pampa, Plainview and Seminole) and four in New Mexico (Carlsbad, Hobbs, Roswell and Tucuman), recently retrofitted interior lighting with LED tube lighting that is estimated to shave almost 163 kilowatts from the stores' combined electricity demand, and reduce annual electricity usage by about 745,000 kilowatt hours, equating to a month's electricity consumption of 745 typical homes in the region. In addition to receiving the benefit of lower bills, the stores also receive a rebate on the cost of installing the lights.

Xcel Energy uses approved contractors to work with business and residential customers to improve their efficiency, and the Tractor Supply projects were managed internally by Tractor Supply in partnership with Energy Management Collaborative (EMC), an energy-efficient lighting solutions company based in Plymouth, Minn. LED lighting is a leading way to maximize energy dollars because LEDs are the most energy-efficient bulb on the market.

LEDs use up to 80 percent less energy than incandescent bulbs and last up to 25 years.

"And LEDs are safer because they operate at much lower temperatures, do not contain mercury, and do not produce any ultra-violet light," said Bryan Whitson, a lighting specialist with Xcel Energy in Amarillo. "They give you light instantly at full brightness, with no warm-up time, and emit a much higher percentage of light in a desired direction. Most LEDs are fully dimmable too."

Residential and commercial electric customers in Texas have a suite of energy efficiency and load management programs available to help save money and energy.

While Xcel Energy manages the energy saving incentives, programs are delivered through what is called a "Standard Offer Program," which simply means customers receive services through specially selected independent Energy Efficiency Service Providers. Visit www.xcelenergy.com for details about these programs, including program manuals, EESP/project sponsor lists and more. For additional questions, contact Bryan Whitson, Xcel Energy Program Manager, at (806) 378-2887 or Bryan.J.Whitson@xcelenergy.com.

Jernigan convicted, sentenced in bull theft

Submitted by the Texas Cattle Raisers Association

WHITELIF, Texas — Jaimie "Jim Bob" Jernigan, 46, pled guilty in charges of theft of livestock and obstruction, both third-degree felonies. The charges are the result of an investigation conducted by Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association (TSCRA) Special Ranger Ben Eggleston.

In May 2015, Eggleston was contacted by an area cattle raiser and the Wheeler County Sheriff's Office. He was advised that three months prior, the cattle raiser had made a verbal agreement with Jernigan to sell a bull and return the proceeds of the sale.

Jernigan took possession of the bull in February 2015 and reportedly sold it in Colorado soon after. However, he never returned the earnings to the rancher as promised. The bull's owner and local law enforcement officers contacted Jernigan several times to resolve the matter, but without success.

Eggleston continued the investigation, and contacted Colorado brand inspection authorities in an attempt to locate the bull.

He soon received word from a Colorado brand inspector, who located the bull and confirmed that it had indeed been purchased by private treaty in the state. After confirming the animal's identity, Eggleston and local law enforcement personally traveled to Colorado to take possession of the stolen bull. Within little more than a week, Eggleston had returned the bull to its rightful owner.

Jernigan was subsequently charged with theft of livestock and obstruction or retaliation. The case was brought to a close on Sept. 21, 2017, when he entered a guilty plea on both counts. The case was adjudicated in the 3rd District Court, Wheeler County, Texas, and presided over by Judge Steven Emmert.

As a condition of the plea bargain, Jernigan received deferred sentences of 10 years on the theft of livestock charge, and four years on the obstruction charge. He was also ordered to pay restitution, fines and court costs totaling more than $5,200.

"It often takes a team effort to investigate and prosecute these crimes and this case was no exception," said Eggleston. "I would like to thank everyone who assisted with the investigation, especially the Wheeler, Lipscomb and Hemphill County Sheriff's Offices, as well as Colorado Brand Inspection Director Chris Whitney and inspectors Dan Buhr and Deb Vernon."

ADVICE

Mom seemingly plays favorites

Dear Annie: I am a 13-year-old girl in Montreal. I go to a private high-tech school with nice friends and teachers. I have divorced parents and an older brother, Edward.

Dear Annie
By Annie Lane

Regarding your issues with your brother, here's the bad news: Elder siblings have been blaming younger siblings for things since the dawn of time. The good news: They eventually grow out of it. In the meantime, when Edward starts to bug you, just ignore him.

My mom and I spend quality time together pretty often. We go out and have fun, and she buys me things. The thing is that she does these nice things — such as taking me for ice cream or shopping — and then uses them against me later. She also says I'm rude when I'm just doing my thing. I am sick and tired of having my mom use the fun times and activities we do as leverage to make me feel bad. Why does she do these things? Is it my fault? Is it hers? Should I talk about it again with her?

Also, my mom tells me not to bully Edward, when he lies more than I do and often starts the problems. She doesn't believe me when I tell her the truth, though.

Does she like him more than me? I must admit that I get along better with my father and Edward than I do with my mother. But Mom always tells me we're equal in her eyes. I don't believe her.

Please help me. I have no one else to turn to. I do believe this could help others with the same problem who are afraid to speak up. — Last and Unloved

Dear Last and Unloved: Though we do our best as parents, we're not perfect, and sometimes we don't realize the impact of our words. The next time you and Mom are out together, tell her how much you enjoy the quality time. Then explain that you're feeling anxious about doing these things together because you're afraid she'll bring the memories up in a negative context. Rest assured your mom loves you and your brother equally, my dear. You both will always be No. 1 in her heart, no matter what.

Dear Annie: This is in response to "First-Time Heart Patient." I'm not a physician, but I'm a retired open-heart surgery nurse who specialized in critical care. I want to assure "First-Time Heart Patient" that it sounds as if he received excellent care. Apparently, the doctors thought his situation was so critical that rather than discharge him from the hospital, they sent him for cardiac intervention as soon as it could be coordinated. This would be considered an urgent heart catheterization and intervention.

Perhaps he was too overwhelmed or too ill at the time to remember the nurses explaining the medication to him, or perhaps the media had to be given very quickly to prevent further problems. That happens. However, it should all have been in the printed copy of his discharge instructions, which should have been given to him and reviewed with him before he went home.

I understand his anxiety and concern about this life-threatening condition. Mended Hearts is a great support group for heart patients after heart attacks and beyond. He can check with his hospital to see whether this is available in his area. Good luck! — J.P.

Dear J.P., I appreciate your taking the time to write in and share your expertise and experience. Thank you.

Send your questions for Annie Lane to annie@creators.com.

Turn dishwasher into a workhorse

The dishwasher in my house is a workhorse. It does a great job of doing all sorts of things. It cleans dishes, of course, but it also cleans baseball caps and wastebaskets, and it de-crusts (yes, you read that right) Now I can add "cleaning refrigerator shelves" to the list.

WRAP UP THE BREAKABLES

As a former Air Force wife and quilter, I realized during my very first move that quilting fabric would make for good packing material. I was going to move it anyway, and if I used my own packing materials, I wouldn't have to purchase some from the moving company. I also used one towel, socks, pillowcases, T-shirts and nightgowns to pack our belongings. It cut down on cost during our many moves. It didn't harm the environment. And the materials were still clean (although wrinkled) when I unpacked. I would suggest to those who want to cut costs on their move to look around their home for soft things that could protect breakable — Yvonne.

SPARKLING CLEAN SHELVES

When I clean my refrigerator, I put all the shelves, including the door shelves, in the dishwasher. I run the short cycle, which saves time, and the shelves come out sparkling. — Emma

DOG HAIR-REMOVAL GLOVES

My Labrador retriever frequently goes places with me and travels in the back of my car. Needless to say, lots of dog hair gets stuck on the carpet. I've tried everything to remove it including sticky roller tape and special sponges, but nothing has worked. Finally, I tried my gardening gloves. The palm of the gloves has a rough, rubbery texture, and they work beautifully. I put on a glove and run my palm along the carpet. The hair piles up in it. — Kaitlyn

TWO-STEP SWIFFER CLEANING

I cut towels into pieces that fit in a cleaning pad on my Swiffer. When mopping, I use a spray bottle filled with water and a tablespoon of Murphy's Oil Soap, spraying small areas and mopping as I go. The floor dries very quickly. 100 — Jill

You may have a jar of honey that was once delicious and beautiful but now looks gross because it has crystallized and turned almost solid. Don't throw it out! It's easy to turn into tasty flowing goodness again. Set the tightly closed jar in the top rack of your dishwasher, and run it through a cycle. Let it return to room temperature in the dishwasher. This method produces excellent results. The water spray provides slow, even heating and gentle agitation.

Grant

local LEPC here and Judge Newsom sat in on a LEPC meeting and learned of a $4 million grant coming up.

Many times grant applications are submitted and end up being passed over for any number of reasons, but not this one.

"We had our fire moon, and we got the stars," the fire chief said. "We are going to be able to get some more handheld radios that are desperately needed."

Several years ago law enforcement agencies and fire departments converted from aging analog technology to newer digital communications technologies that provide more dependable service and will allow local agencies, in time of need, to communicate with other nations.

Other Hopkins County fire departments is making the transition also.

"We've got 101 radios, which is very good because we are complete out of radios we got in a previous grant," he said. "We are also getting eight laptop computers that will help us in our emergency operations center side."

Endley said the computers are here, and he expects the new handheld radios to be delivered in the next few weeks, and the money has already been funded.

"Usually it doesn't happen like that," Chief Endley said. "Usually it's after the fact. We have to fund it up front and they reimburse us — we've got the money sitting there."

The quilt that is available as a raffle prize was donated by Bill Ruff. Tickets for the quilt raffle are $1 each or six for $5. They can be purchased from Weatherman at the Senior Center, 150 Martin Luther King Jr. Dr.

With or without 30 additional walkers, thanks to those who have already signed up, those who have bought quilt raffle tickets and the approximately two dozen sponsors, Weatherman has already already crossed the finish line for Terrific Tuesdays. Weatherman said she is at the $10,000 goal for the event, which is the only fundraiser for the program.

Terrific Tuesdays is a respite program geared towards providing some time off for the caregivers of those living with dementia, Alzheimer's disease, brain injuries and other memory-loss related illnesses. The program takes place each week in the Family Life Center of First UMC, 301 Church St. in Sulphur Springs, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. It gives caregivers the opportunity to leave their loved ones to socialize and participate in group activities in a safe and controlled environment while they enjoy much-needed time out. The program offers a separate event at 7 p.m. the fourth Tuesday of each month, mostly just for caregivers.

"I hope to see a lot of people out at the Walk supporting Terri Reedson, director of Terrific Tuesdays, all of her wonderful volunteers and each one of the 15 participants of Terrific Tuesdays," Weatherman said.

Weatherman, as program and marketing director for the Senior Citizens Center, has plenty of experience with the Terrific Tuesdays program. Weatherman said she's glad to be at the fundraising target, but will take "all we can raise" to benefit the program.

'Walkin' for Wesley'

Burkley Trucking sponsored the "Walkin' for Wesley" team, which placed fourth in fundraising at this year's Out of the Darkness American Foundation for Suicide Prevention Walk held Saturday, Sept. 30, in Waco.

Team members included Vicki Trentham of Campbell, who participated in the walk after just finishing therapy for a knee replacement; Kari Glasgow of Waco, one of the top fundraisers of the Waco event; Denise Stuart of Sulphur Springs; Stephanie Grammer and Sharon Jones, both of Campbell; and April Bruner and Anel Moore, both of Caddo Mills. The American Foundation of Suicide Prevention hosted their premier Out of the Darkness fundraising walks in all 50 states, including the Sept. 30 walk held at Brazos Park East in Waco, which drew 850 participants. The Waco Chapter raised more than $20,000.

According to AFSP, the walks "give people the courage to open up about their own struggle or loss and the platform to change our culture's approach to mental health."

Funds raised from the walks are used to "produce millions for suicide prevention programs, unite those who have been affected by suicide and create communities that are smart about mental health," the program website notes.

Atmos Energy to perform routine pipeline maintenance

From News Reports

Atmos Energy crews and contractors will execute a controlled release of natural gas on Thursday, Oct. 12 between 7 a.m. and noon. Work will occur on FM 153, approximately 14 miles east of State Hwy 19. Crews will be working on a section of natural gas pipeline in the area as part of normal, routine maintenance operations.

The controlled release of natural gas allows employees to work safely on the pipeline. People in the area may smell the natural gas odor and hear moderate noise during this process. Atmos Energy will be on-site to monitor the work as natural gas is vented into the atmosphere.

There will be no Atmos Energy customers affected while the maintenance work is being performed. Residents in the area along with Hopkins County officials, Sheriff's office, 911 operators, fire department and the media are being advised of the controlled release prior to work beginning Oct. 12.

Lenders

car title lenders is that it's too difficult," he said. "We chose the one that many other cities have adopted."

Maxwell then explained the ordinance and its requirements.

"This ordinance does number of things," the city manager said. "No. 1, they are defined as credit access lenders. No. 2, they must register with the city and must maintain records for our review."

Under the proposed ordinance, credit extension must be limited to 20 percent of gross income on the first loan. This is a loan where a check is written for a future payment and can be no more than 20 percent of the gross income of the person applying for the loan.

It also requires that credit extension is limited to 3 percent of gross annual income or, in the case of a car title loan, limited to 70 percent of the value of the vehicle used to secure the title loan.

Installment loans must be repaid in four installments and each installment must repay 25 percent of the loan. Renewals and financing on installment loans would not be permitted. Lump-sum repayment loans, under the proposed ordinance, would not be financed more than three times.

Maxwell said that these lenders would also be required to provide referrals to a consumer credit counseling as prescribed by the city.

The ordinance would not apply to banks, mortgage lenders or pawnshops.

Only three people addressed the ordinance before the council, all speaking in support of its adoption.

Attorney James Lutzler, whose law practice included consumer bankruptcy, spoke in the council expressing his support of the proposed ordinance.

"It is not an exaggeration to say that dozens and dozens of people have gotten caught up in the payday lending cycle and were unable to work their way out of it," Lutzler said. "I have had clients who have paid back 10 or 15 times the original of a loan over a course of one or two years and still owed the entire amount originally borrowed. They take that and march down the street and get $250 and $300 from this place and this place and they are spending more than 50 percent of their available net income just trying to service these loans. It's a cycle. The term is used 'predatory.'"

That's a strong term but an accurate term for these kinds of things."

Lutzler said the payday lenders were not "bashful" about interest rates of 500 or 600 percent.

"Desperate people do desperate things," he said. "I think this is a good ordinance, and I would urge the council to accept it as written."

Dr. Joel Tiemeyer, pastor of The Way Bible Church, thanked the council and city staff for the work put into the ordinance.

"I believe it does need to be passed," Tiemeyer said. "As pastor of a church I see a lot of different things I see the Black Book Builders. And we give snacks for kids over the weekends and we give snacks for kids all summer long. And they don't have the subsidized lunches and don't get to eat some of the families involved in this are involved in this very thing, and the money that should be going to feed their children is living the pockets of these people. I believe 'predatory' is an accurate term. I've heard extortion, and I've heard heavy-handedness."

Mark Bryant, pastor of First Baptist Church, also voiced his support for the proposed ordinance regulating the so-called payday lenders and car title loan companies.

"Every week I step on the court as the thing we call 'ROC' with a bunch of young men who come out of many times, families that don't have the means to do what they need to," Bryant said. "Often times they are led to make decisions just like we are talking about. They go get a loan that ultimately can never really repay."

The council then unanimously approved the ordinance on first reading. It will be on the agenda for the November meeting for second reading and, if passed, will become effective Jan. 1, 2018.

In other action, the council approved a request from Love's Travel Stop and Country Store to replot property in the 1200 block of Hillcrest drive to allow for the construction of a truck stop and travel center.

Approval was also given to a request from developer Wayne Cooper to plat six acres of a 12-acre tract located on the north side of Wildcat Way at Majors Drive.

A low bid submitted by Martin Manetta for concrete for the Cross Town Trail Project in construct sidewalks to connect Coleman Park, Buford Park and the downtown plaza area.

The only other bid was received from Bill Concrete for the project.

Historic buildings in Heritage Park were open throughout the event, including the chapel, general store, fire station, train station, grist mill, the first brick home built in Suphur Springs and the first school in Hopkins County.

Part of the park was under construction Saturday, in the future, that will become the home of the Liberty Circle bricks honoring the Trail Council and Lone Star Area Council Eagle Scouts, recipients of the Silver Beaver award and those honored by the council's Order of the Arrow. LaQuanne Allamagh Lodge #428 as "virgins" members.

Heritage Park is 11 acres in size and once was a brick-making factory. Besides the log cabin, it features other historical buildings relocated there for preservation. For more about the park and museum, visit <http://www.hopkinscountymuseum.org>.

ADVICE

Leaving the nest

Dear Annie: I need your advice. My very musically gifted high school senior appears to want to go to college and major in music performance. But he is refusing to visit colleges. He won't discuss it, he just gets very belligerent when the subject comes up and won't expand on any reasons. Should I let it be or make the contacts for him and force him to go? — Music Man's Mom

Dear Music Man's Mom: It's possible that your son is afraid to leave home — which would show his intelligence, it's a big scary world out there. Courage arises not when we suppress our fears but when we find something so worthwhile we temporarily forget them. So do what you can to help him find exciting possibilities. There are many amazing colleges that specialize in music, which you can research together. See whether any schools within a short driving distance have solid music programs. In the end, though, this is his search process, and he should take the lead. It's the first step he'll take as an independent adult, and it's healthy for him to take ownership of the decision.

Dear Annie: I read your advice column every day and love it. I am 64 years old and have been very happily married for 45 years.

I read about the grumpy old dad whom "Hurt Daughter in New Hampshire" has to deal with. I am part of a local association mostly made up of older men. We tend to be grumpy. Why? We hurt. We have health issues. We see changes in the world around us that we don't appreciate. We didn't realize that retirement was going to make us feel unneeded. We are not attractive anymore. Many have been hurt from previous failed marriages and relationship ships, so they don't trust anyone anymore. This is what I have learned about how to stop a grumpy old man in his tracks and if not change, at least realize how he's acting. I first empathize, telling him I feel his pain and then I encourage him to not take his pain out on other people. That friendliness and meanness breeds more of the same. But grumpiness and meanness will only make things worse.

When that doesn't work (and it usually doesn't), then I go at him by confronting his hypocrisy. "You are angry with everyone else for all kinds of things, but by being that way, you are acting like a spoiled brat who needs discipline. Get over it! You are a grown man who knows how to act maturely and friendly. Show love even if you don't feel it. Change or get used to being rejected."

This works for most guys. It's the language they understand. They will probably dislike the one who says it to them, but everyone else around them will begin to see the change and appreciate it. I do not let my pain and discouragement affect my actions.

15 facts, uses for the 1-cent piece

For some people, pennies are so annoying they don't even bother picking them up on sidewalks and streets. Then there are those who are nearly fanatical about the copper coin, living up to the old phrase "A penny saved is a penny earned."

Today, I thought it would be fun to take a look at a few facts and practical uses for the coin of lowest value in the U.S. currency lineup.

Four or more: Carry four pennies with you at all times so you always have just enough to avoid paying the odd cents when you make a purchase. This way, you avoid getting pennies back in change.

Serious change savers save other coins but want to get rid of the pennies as quickly as possible. This method will do it.

Tens of copper: It has been reported that the U.S. Mint has produced more than 208.7 billion pennies. If lined up edge to edge, they would circle the Earth 137 times. The average penny lasts 25 years.

Big waste: It now costs more than 1 cent to produce a penny. In 2007, the U.S. Mint lost $31 million while making 6.6 billion new pennies.

Some rarities: In 1943, at the peak of World War II, pennies were made of steel-coated zinc for a short time due to war demands for copper. A few 1943 pennies were produced by accident from the 1942 copper planchets remaining in the mint. Only 40 1943 copper pennies are known to remain in existence.

Nickname: We call it a penny, but that's only a nickname. The U.S. Treasury's official name for the coin is "one-cent piece."

Make a washer: If you don't have washers on hand and just have to finish a project, you can drill holes into coins and use them instead. "Be a dime or a penny for a small washer, and a quarter or half dollar to simulate a larger flange washer. Brass washers cost about 4 cents each, and pennies cost well a penny.

MARY HUNT

Road safety: Place a penny in the tire tread with the Lincoln's head facing right side up. If you can only see the top of his head, then you should replace the tires because they could blow out.

Party entertainment: Grasp a penny with the thumb and middle finger of the hand you snap better with. Bend your forearm back and lift your arm so your elbow is parallel to the ground. Snap your fingers and they'll launch the penny. Aim and repeat until you have everyone at the party engaged, amazed and having fun.

As a tool: Use a penny for leverage to pry the lid from a difficult childproof medication bottle. Or use it as a spacer when laying tile.

Balancing act: Slip a penny under a wobbly vase to steady it.

Create a ballast: Tape a penny to the tail of your kite for a little more stabilizing weight.

Remove a bolt: Use it as an impromptu screwdriver on a wide-headed bolt or screw.

Build a sculpture: Follow this link for inspiration to make a penny sculpture that will amaze your friends and make your mother proud. <http://www.fineart.org/Mac/Pennies>

Leave a sign: Lay a penny on your loved one's grave marker each time you visit. Those who follow will catch on and follow suit.

Copper flooring: Are you looking for something new in your bathroom or kitchen? If you have lots of spare pennies, perhaps you would try the copper penny flooring, as seen on Pinterest. At $2.26 per square foot (256 pennies laid in 16-by-16 squares), that's about as cheap as flooring gets. Not that ambitious? Go for a shiny new countertop instead as seen on the EPBO website.

Inmate accused of spitting on guards faces a set of new felony charges

Man is serving a 24-month sentence for breaking and entering

By LYNN LARROW
Texarkana Gazette

An inmate at the Southwest Arkansas Community Correction Center in Texarkana is facing three new felony charges for allegedly spitting on two correctional officers and striking another in the face.

They O'Guinn, 31, allegedly struck correctional Officer Robert Richardson in the face with a closed fist as Richardson attempted to break up a fight between two inmates during the afternoon of Sept. 15, according to a probable cause affidavit used to create the following arrest. At the same day and during the same incident, O'Guinn allegedly spit in the face of adviser Terrance Blakemore of his uniform.

When O'Guinn was booked into the Miller County Jail on an arrest warrant for all three charges, he was photographed for mugshot wearing a spit guard. The device prevents detainees and inmates with a history of spitting behavior from dispersing their saliva onto others. According to court records, O'Guinn was sentenced in April to serve 24 months in a community correction center by a circuit judge in Columbia County, Ark., for breaking and entering. O'Guinn was originally assessed a five-year term of probation but that was revoked because O'Guinn failed to report, pay court ordered fees and failed to participate in court-ordered programs. O'Guinn has been charged with two counts of aggravated assault on a correctional officer and one count of battery. All three offenses are punishable by up to six years in prison and a fine up to $10,000.

FILLING A NEED

Outreach meetings aim to recruit foster parents in Miller, Hempstead counties

By ANSEL GARDNER
Texarkana Gazette

The Division of Child and Family Services is having two outreach meetings to provide information to potential foster parents.

The first meeting will take place from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Monday at Hempstead Hall, 2506 S. Main St., Hope, Ark. The second will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Oct. 23 at the Miller County Department of Human Services, 3809 Airport Plaza, Texarkana, Ark.

"We're looking for people who have thought about fostering and want more information or people who want to foster but don't know how to get started," said Janet Lewis-Beasley, a community engagement specialist for the Division of Children and Family Services. "We'll give our information on how to start the process, how to volunteer and how to be a community partner."

The need for foster parents is great. There are 180 children in foster care in Miller County but only eight foster homes in Hempstead County, there are 20 children foster care but only four homes.

"In the past we've had problems placing youth 10 and older. Often they were put in residential facilities, shelters or out-of-county — but now it's not only kids 10 and older. We're actually seeing that with kids 6 and older," Lewis-Beasley said.

Basic requirements for people who'd like to become foster parents include being 21 or older, passing a background check and meeting the minimum licensing standards.

"It doesn't cost anything to become a foster parent and assistance is available for those who do," Lewis-Beasley said. "Once the ball is rolling, from inquiry to actual opening of the home takes about three months."

For more information, call Lewis-Beasley at 870-773-0563, ext. 30378.

Main Street Texarkana sets holiday decorating contest in downtown area

By JENNIFER STONE
Texarkana Gazette

With fall weather settling in, Halloween a few weeks away, Main Street Texarkana is planning a Christmas decorating contest in the downtown area ahead of the upcoming holiday season.

"This is something special we've got going to help bring our downtown this Christmas," said Ina McDowell, Main Street Texarkana executive director. "This will help bring up our evening Christmas parade. All downtown store and establishments from who want to participate need to have a Christmas display set up by Nov. 15. The winners get $1,000."

This event is sponsored by Downtown Texarkana Neighborhood Association.

Main Street Texarkana is still tallying the numbers from Dine on the Line 2017. According to McDowell, it exceeded expectations.

"We were ready to handle 500 diners and we easily got that," she said. "And many more besides came downtown to see the merchants, see the sights and dance and have fun. We appreciate Texarkana coming out and supporting Main Street Texarkana's mission, especially an event like this which brings both sides of the city together. We did make money and we had a successful event and we look forward to doing this again next year," McDowell said.

Police arrest man on theft, drug-related charges

Law enforcement agencies worked together recently to arrest a suspect on a theft charge and three drug-related charges.

About 1 a.m. Sunday Deputy Ryan Brown received a call from Sgt. Daniel Oller with the Hope, Ark., Police Department in reference to spotting an alleged drug suspect, Aaron Daniels, no age available, for whom there was a felony warrant from the Hempstead County Sheriff's Office. Oller advised he was making a traffic stop with Daniels at 706 E. Short Sixth St. in Hope.

Brown arrived shortly after Oller made contact with Daniels and confirmed the active warrant. Daniels was arrested on a charge of felony theft of property after placing Daniels in hand restraints. Brown searched for weapons and contributed. In the suspect's left pants pocket, Brown located a clear bag containing a green leafy substance suspected of being marijuana.

Oller walked to the driver's-side window of Daniels' vehicle and saw a handgun sticking out from under the driver's seat. Oller immediately took the weapon. The handgun was a pistol with a stainless-steel slide and turquoise-colored frame. It had 14 unspent 9 mm rounds inside the magazine and one unspent round inside the chamber and ready to fire.

Oller had the police dispatcher conduct a query on the handgun, which allegedly revealed that it was stolen. During a search of the vehicle, Oller found a pipe commonly used for smoking marijuana. The handgun was reportedly stolen Sept. 22 during a burglary on Hempstead County Road 25.

Daniels asked if he could go inside the residence and turn the stove off, because the gas he was staying with left some food cooking for him. Brown took Daniels inside the residence; the stove was not on and nothing was cooking. While walking back toward the door, Deputy Brown saw a digital scale on a small table with what appeared to be marijuana residue on it. Daniels said it was his for personal use. The scale was confiscated at that time.

Daniels was taken to the Hempstead County Detention Facility, where he was charged with theft of property, carrying a prohibited weapon, possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) and possession of drug paraphernalia.

COMMISSIONERS

from 1A

"In order to do this, we are either going to have to change our payroll timing or change the meeting schedule of the commissioners' court. If you meet on Wednesday mornings instead of Tuesday mornings, you will have 26 regular meetings instead of 24."

"Payroll cannot be paid until it is presented to the commissioners' court," remarked VZC Judge Don Kirkpatrick.

"That is correct," said Pruitt. "The direct deposits have to go out to the bank 48 hours prior to payday which means they have to go out by noon Wednesday before payday on Friday. I receive time sheets on Monday morning and I cannot have them ready until Wednesday morning which means I cannot have them ready for a Tuesday morning commissioners meeting."

Pruitt said that she is trying to enforce a state law that has been in the books for a number of years. "Rockwall County was doing this like we were and they requested an opinion from the state attorney general's office which basically said that the way it has been done before is not going to work now. Continuing to meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month is not going to work for us."

"I visited with Teri (Pruitt) on this issue recently and we believe that instead of changing all of the payroll reporting that it would be easier for us to move our meeting dates," said Kirkpatrick. "Meeting on Wednesday prior to the Friday payroll would work out better."

Tommy Phillips, the Van Zandt County Extension Agent, far right, presents a proclamation to the VZC Commissioners Court Sept. 26 designating the week of Oct. 1-7 as National 4-H Week.

The commissioners court also:

— Approved the Green Gate Ranches Subdivision located in Pct. 3 on FM 751 north and VZCR 3820.

— Nominated the names of Paul Nicklas, Larry Shackelford and Merlin Westbrook to be submitted for consideration to serve on the VZC Appraisal District Board of Directors.

— Approved Commissioner Pct. 4 Tim West to serve as a member on the East Texas Council of Governments Board.

— Approved a donation of $200 from Minnie J. Mantooth to the VZC Pct. 4 Constable's office.

— Approved the 2017-18 VZC Sheriff's and Constable fees. The court stated there were no changes in the fees.

— Heard from Victim Advocate for VZC and Rains County Crystal Mayer who presented a proclamation designating the month of October as Domestic Violence Awareness Month in VZC which was approved by the commissioners' court. It was also announced that there will be a candlelight vigil in recognition of Domestic Violence Awareness Month on the VZC Courthouse steps from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 17.

— Approved a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 1-7 as National 4-H Week following a presentation from VZC Extension Agent Tommy Phillips.

— Approved a donation after hearing from VZC Pct. 2 Constable Jesse Ison regarding a $1,000 donation from Captain Air A/C to go toward the installation of a security system for the office of VZC Pct. 2 Justice of the Peace Sandra Plaster.

— Approved bid proposal on a three-year contract from John McLaughlin of Republic Services regarding waste disposal services for VZC was approved by the commissioners' court.

— Approved a mass gathering permit application from the St. Therese Catholic Church for a prayer rally Sunday, Oct. 15 on the VZC Courthouse steps.

— A series of fiscal year 2017 budget amendments were approved by the commissioners' court following a presentation from VZC Auditor Freddy Thomas.

— Monthly reports submitted by various offices and departments of VZC government were approved and entered into the commissioners' court minutes as a matter of record.

— The financial and investment report of the VZC treasurer's office for August 2017 was approved and entered into the minutes of the commissioners' court.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Happiness comes when we test our skills towards some meaningful purpose.

-John Stossel

Adopting a dog or cat later in life

Companion animals bring great joy to their owners. The unconditional love cats and dogs provide appeals to people of all ages. While many people associate pets with kids who can't wait to welcome the first cat or dog into their homes, pets can benefit aging men and women as well.

It's not uncommon for seniors to feel lonely or depressed when they retire, their children move away or they lose a spouse or close friend or friends. The American Humane Society states that studies show pets help seniors overcome loneliness and depression by providing affection, company and entertainment. Pets also provide much-needed mental stimulation, and many pet owners find their pets help them become more physically active as well.

Seniors who adopt pets may also feel a sense of purpose when helping animals who may not have anywhere to live. This is particularly true of older companion animals, which many young families are understandably hesitant to adopt. Mature pets might be an ideal fit for seniors. When seniors are looking to adopt a pet, there are various reasons why older pets or particular animals might be the perfect fit for them.

Adult pets may already be house trained, saving seniors the trouble and effort of training them.

Seniors may find cats fit their lifestyles more than dogs, as cats are less active and do not need to be walked or played with as much as dogs. Cats also are small and easily maneuverable, meaning even seniors who have arthritis or other physical limitations can easily care for cats. Many cats are also content to spend long periods of time sleeping on their owners' laps.

Small dogs that can be active within the house might be a good idea as well, especially for seniors with mobility issues. They're also easily transported to and from vet appointments.

It's important that seniors carefully weigh the benefits of adopting a pet against any limitations they may have. Having a backup plan for care is advantageous as well. Seniors should not adopt a pet if they anticipate frequent travel or medical care that requires they be away from home for long periods of time.

DID YOU KNOW?

Much like many of their human counterparts, pets do not always relish winter. Animals can experience arthritis pain or fatigue when the cold sets in. Shorter periods of daylight also may make them less active and likely to sleep for longer periods of time. In an effort to stay warm, some pets get creative. Cats can unintentionally put themselves in danger just to chase a chill away. The American Animal Hospital Association says cats will curl up against almost anything, including car engines, to stay warm. Cats caught in moving engine parts can be seriously hurt or killed. Before you turn your engine on, check beneath the car or make a lot of noise by honking the horn or rapping on the hood. Also, if you have exposed radiators in a home or apartment, construct a cover to prevent cats and dogs from climbing on the exposed coils. The hot water pumping through radiators can cause burns. Cats and dogs also may get too close to fireplaces, so use a protective screen to keep them away from hot embers. Pets also can knock over portable heaters in an attempt to get warm. Look for models that automatically shut off if they fall over to reduce your risk of fire.

Historical Reflections:Chalybeate Springs was once a thriving community

By BILL JONES
Winnsboro Official Historian

Located three miles east of Winnsboro on SH 11, Jackie and Betty Allen's home is where the Musgrove Springs Hotel stood and Jackie is a retired school teacher and now her love is painting. I have viewed some of her work — it's good. The Garrison family called the hill home for over 100 years. The springs are still flowing north of the Allen residence. The water contains a high content of iron and other minerals which are believed to have a medicinal healing power.

Over the years of its history, the community has been called Chellybeate Springs, Cally-beate Springs, Musgrove Springs and Chalybeate Springs. In 1990, the Texas Historical Commission placed a Texas Historical Marker near the corner of SH 11 and CR 4430 commemorating the community's rich history.

The Texas Department of Transportation erected signs next to SH 11, designating the name Chalybeate Springs. Several community folks suggested the name Musgrove Springs and others requested Chalybeate Springs. After conversation with the state archives in Austin, Chalybeate Springs was chosen primarily because the school district carried the name. As a descendant of one of the first settlers and "Musgrove Springs doesn't have the same ring as Chalybeate Springs."

The word Chalybeate is not a term of Indian dialect. It refers to people in Asia Minor, famous iron workers known as Chalybea. Probably, immigrants gave the spring its name because of the iron in the water, no one really knows.

Early Spanish and French explorers camped here, as north-south and east-west trails crossed. When the first Anglo immigrants arrived in the 1840s, they found friendly Indians who had lived in this area since around 800 A.D. There is evidence that Chalybeate Springs was used as an Indian campground, because of the potable water, good grass for grazing animals and the artifacts that have been discovered.

L.M. Musgrove established a health resort at this location in 1866. Immediately, the resort became a success for its baths and water that contained a healing power.

The coming of the railroad in 1878, assured its future by opening the doors to a new market.

William Bolding, one of the first settlers and great-grandfather of LeNell Winkle and Jerry Bolding, saw the need for education by giving land for a school in 1881. Common school districts were created by the Texas Legislature in 1884. The Chalybeate School District #10 covered more than 6000 acres in Wood and Franklin counties.

Walker Fore bought the L.M. Musgrove property, built and operated a 27 unit resort hotel here until his death in 1889. After Fore's death the hotel became the private residence of the Garrison family who called the location on the hill home for four generations.

In its day of grandeur, the passenger train stopped at the Musgrove depot on a regular basis. A large survey met the train, then transported the guests to the hotel. It was a delightful place to spend days of summer relaxing and enjoying the good life.

The hotel faced north overlooking the campground where ancient man, explorers and immigrant settlers once roamed. The springs are where people came to take mineral baths and drink the water thought to have healing powers. Archaeological evidence has been found at the springs located on a Caldo Trace that began near Shreveport and extended to 20 miles west of Winnsboro to the beginning of buffalo country.

The resort was a miniature Hot Springs with modern rooms and cottages placed among the towering pines. Those who visited here indicated that a cool breeze always blew across the hill during the hot days of summer. Guests often came for a week just to drink the water, eat good food and take mineral baths.

Musgrove Springs Hotel became a favorite spot for people from Sulphur Springs. Mothers and children often arrived in the middle of the week by train. On Saturday afternoon the husbands drove down in the buggy for the Saturday night festivities.

For years Professor Blake and his Sulphur Springs Cornet Band offered entertainment. Crowds gathered from miles around to enjoy the musical and social activities on Saturday night.

After an enjoyable Sunday lunch guests made arrangements to travel home. Buggies and surreys were harnessed and brought around to the front gate. Plans were made with friends to return in the near future. According to stories, the Musgrove Springs Hotel never lost its appeal and was a popular resort until the day the doors were closed for the final time in 1889.

During its boom days, Chalybeate Springs was a thriving community with the hotel, post office established in 1895, depot, two churches, a school, two general stores, a sawmill and a nearby gin. Today, there is little evidence of a thriving farming community. Only a historical marker and the springs remain to tell the story. Jerry Bolding's ancestors have been here since the 18th century. Jerry is known as the Chalybeate Springs historian.

This is dedicated to the memory of Helen Garrison Beard, who had such a love for the community, Chalybeate Springs and its people.

Hall of Honor. She is one of five women in the 18th Women Hall of Honor class.

The Women's Hall of Honor was created in 2000. To be eligible for nomination, a former student-athlete must have completed her collegiate eligibility five years prior to the year of election. The Women's Hall of Honor Selection Committee considers both a candidate's contribution to the UT athletics program and the candidate's contribution to her/his community. A maximum of five former student-athletes and one additional non-athlete per year may be inducted into the Women's Hall of Honor.

Stephens has worked in coaching and basketball operations since 2006, including a two-year stint as her alma mater as special assistant for women's basketball from 2012-14.

Prior to her position at the University of Texas, Stephens was assistant coach at NAIA/Red River Athletic Conference's (RRAC) Texas College and director of basketball operations at Colorado State University.

Stephens served as an assistant women's basketball coach at Sam Houston State for three years, before beginning her current role in August as assistant women's basketball coach at Our Lady of the Lake University in San Antonio.

Stephens, the daughter of Rob and Kitty Stephens, took time from her busy schedule to visit with us about her career and what it means to her to be selected to UT's Women's Hall of Honor.

The Winnsboro News: How's the family doing?
Stacy Stephens: Great. My dad is an Altec district sales coordinator and my mom is still a registered nurse. My brother Clint is married and has three daughters, Anna, Grace and Rachel. He's a coach at Albu-Querque High School.

TWN: What is your fondest memory at UT?

SS: Way too many to pick just one, but the top ones are:

Playing in the 2003 Final Four, pouring confetti on Coach Conrad's head for her 800th win, being a part of the first UT Women's Basketball team to win a Big XII Championship.

I also enjoyed skiing in Utah, snorkeling in Hawaii, sailing in St. Thomas and of course riding in taxi limos to a tournament dinner (don't worry they didn't cost more than a normal taxi).

There are also countless memories of watching football games, baseball, softball and the Texas Relays, also walking across the stage to get my degree, and receiving my T-Ring are floating around in my head. Although most of my memories involve my amazing teammates.

TWN: I was so very blessed to be a part of that team. We were (and still are) a group of competitive, fun loving, strong young women that constantly strived to better themselves and our team as a whole.

TWN: You played pro ball after graduation, right?

SS: I was drafted by the Houston Comets, then picked up by the Detroit Shock. After a car accident, I played some pro in the NWBL with the Lubbock Hawks.

Then had a tryout with the New York Liberty, followed by playing overseas in Turkey, Sweden and Portugal. I was also able to travel with USA basketball while I was still in college, winning gold in the NWBL with the Lubbock Hawks. I was also able to travel with USA basketball while I was still in college, winning gold in the NWBL with the Lubbock Hawks.

TWN: Where did you enjoy playing the most? Did you travel a lot while playing overseas?

SS: My favorite location was probably in Portugal. My team was based on the island of Madeira. It was absolutely gorgeous there, and the team was very competitive and fun to play with. I had the chance to hike and see a waterfall, even in the ocean and jump off of cliffs. Not to mention I was on the verge of getting another tryout with a WNBA team as 3/4 player (in the past I only played the 51, but this was not meant to be, since I ended my career with a knee injury there).

TWN: When did you start coaching? Where?

SS: I started coaching at UT basketball camps.

I always enjoyed working with the kids, and seemed to have found a fun way of passing on all the great coaching I had received in my life. My dad, my brother, Jr. High Coach Tom Campbell, HS Coach Buddy Hawkins, AAU Coaches: Joey Simmons, Jerry Simmons, Buddy Luce and so many others.

After graduation I continued doing my own camps at times and working college camps to help continue to train and play professionally.

After I hurt my knee and came back to Texas, I was in a funk, and was unsure how to handle it. For the first time in years, I didn't have a team.

I ran into a coach that I had met at UT Basketball Camp, John Anderson, and he was the head coach at Ft. Worth Christian HS.

He took a chance on me and offered me his freshman coaching spot. He mentored me, allowed me to learn and helped me start my career path in coaching. His ability to teach me how to transition from player to coach has been one of the best lessons I have learned as a coach.
