EL PASO ELECTRIC COMPANY'S RESPONSE TO
CITY OF EL PASO'S FOURTEENTH REQUEST FOR INFORMATION
QUESTION NOS. CEP 14-1 THROUGH CEP 14-16

CEP 14-1:

Regarding the answer to CEP 9-12, does this amount comprise the costs included in the MAJ_ACCT_REPS allocation? (b) If the amount identified in CEP 9-12 comprises only part of the allocated cost amount, please quantify it as a percentage of the MAJ_ACCT_REPS amount. (c) If “yes” to ‘a,’ please explain why it is reasonable to allocate to small general service the majority of the cost of assisting large commercial and industrial customers.

RESPONSE:

- a. Yes.
- b. N/A
- c. The MAJ_ACCT_REPS allocator is determined based on annual customer counts of non-residential rate classes. The small general service rate class has the highest customer count under this criteria. Large commercial and industrial customers can and do have accounts that are served under more than one rate class, including the small general service rate class.

EL PASO ELECTRIC COMPANY'S RESPONSE TO
CITY OF EL PASO'S FOURTEENTH REQUEST FOR INFORMATION
QUESTION NOS. CEP 14-1 THROUGH CEP 14-16

CEP 14-2:

Regarding the answer to CEP 9-17, provide a more detailed explanation and worksheets for the changes that were made to the assignment of Production O&M expense in the CCOS study. Explain why the Company believes these changes were necessary to comply with the NARUC Cost Allocation Manual.

RESPONSE:

These changes make El Paso Electric Company's ("EPE") cost allocation more consistent with the NARUC Cost Allocation Manual. See EPE's response to FMI 1-17. EPE believes that the NARUC Cost Allocation Manual's approach for classifying production operation and maintenance ("O&M") expenses between demand and energy is widely accepted in the industry. EPE's allocation methodology for production O&M expenses was accepted in its recently litigated case in the New Mexico jurisdiction. Also, EPE prefers a uniform approach that can be applied consistently between jurisdictions.

EL PASO ELECTRIC COMPANY'S RESPONSE TO
CITY OF EL PASO'S FOURTEENTH REQUEST FOR INFORMATION
QUESTION NOS. CEP 14-1 THROUGH CEP 14-16

CEP 14-3:

Regarding the answer to CEP 9-17, please provide additional detail and explanation of the new functional dynamic allocators.

RESPONSE:

The new functional dynamic allocators referenced in CEP 9-17 are listed below:

CUSTLABOR – Customer Related Labor
DISTLABOR – Distribution Related Labor
PRODLABOR – Production Related Labor
TRANLABOR – Transmission Related Labor

As described in page 25 of the direct testimony of El Paso Electric Company witness Adrian Hernandez, administrative and general (“A&G”) expenses are assigned to rate classes using the LABOR allocator or a labor-related allocation factor derived from the labor expenses contained in the accounts of the applicable functional account grouping. The new functional dynamic allocators listed above are the labor-related allocation factors described in that section of the testimony. A&G expenses related to a specific function (e.g., production, transmission, distribution) are assigned an allocator based on the account description.

The “Dynamic Allocators” tab in the cost-of-service model (EPE Regulatory Case Working Model – As Filed – Dkt 52195) shows how these dynamic allocators were derived.

CITY OF EL PASO'S FOURTEENTH REQUEST FOR INFORMATION
QUESTION NOS. CEP 14-1 THROUGH CEP 14-16

CEP 14-4:

Please explain whether the P schedules were printed out from the EPE Regulatory Case Working Model. If yes, how is the model manipulated to print out those schedules. If schedule P is the output of a different Excel model, please provide a copy of that model.

RESPONSE:

The P schedules were not printed out from the EPE Regulatory Case Working Model. There is no other Excel model from which they were produced. The P schedules were prepared from information derived directly from El Paso Electric Company's ("EPE") general ledger using Powerplan Regulatory Management Suite server-based regulatory module. See the direct testimony of EPE witness James Schichtl, page 40, lines 15 to 26, and the direct testimony of EPE witness Adrian Hernandez, at page 5 lines 17 to 26.

QUESTION NOS. CEP 14-1 THROUGH CEP 14-16

CEP 14-8:

Please explain how the Company's CCOS proposes to address uncollectible cost associated with Large C&I customers.

RESPONSE:

Refer to pages 15 (lines 10 to 21) and 24 (lines 28 to 31) of El Paso Electric Company's ("EPE") witness Adrian Hernandez' direct testimony.

EPE's policy changed in June 2020 as part of the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update 2016-13, Financial Instruments-Credit Losses (Topic 326). The Large C&I (Commercial and Industrial) customers are considered fully collectible based on payment history and, therefore, are not considered for risk in the monthly uncollectible cost calculation. Should a Large C&I customer become indebted to EPE and be identified as risky, a separate provision for uncollectible cost will be considered ad hoc.

CEP 14-10:

Please provide a worksheet showing the development of the Low Income Rider amount for purposes of the residential proof of revenues.

RESPONSE:

Please refer to WP/Q-7, specifically page 13 of 76, as well as native file WP Q-7(a). Line 3 on that page shows the Low-Income Rider amount is $1,295,698. That amount is calculated by simply multiplying 122,932 billing units by the proposed customer charge of $10.54. The billing units represent the number of bills during the test year that reflected a Low-Income Rider credit.
