Mapping Team – Therese Harris

During the past quarter the committee's mapping team has been busy updating information in the database and shown on the electricity supply chain map in preparation Summer 2024 season and hurricane season. This effort means that users of the map will have the most current and complete information available to them during an emergency event.

The electricity supply chain map identifies and connects the critical natural gas infrastructure needed to supply natural gas to natural gas generators to the electric distribution and transmissions system and provides information crucial to emergency management personnel during an emergency.

Conclusion

Next meeting will be scheduled for September 2024
