Good morning,

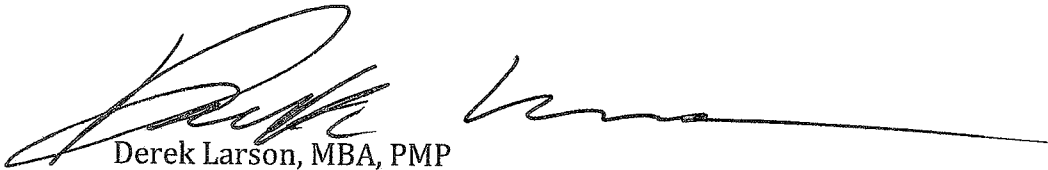

I am requesting that the commission extend our deadline to allow us to adequately address all of the issues.

The major issue is that we are a new company, formed in January 2022. To provide the quarterly financials that have been requested we first need to wrap up our first quarter of business, which would not be until after the deadline to cure all deficiencies. Therefore I am asking the commission grant us until the middle of April to provide all of the items requested, the rest of which are relatively simple.

In the event this request is denied, we will simply re-submit another application with all of the additional requested information in mid-April. As this would require additional efforts on our behalf as the applicant, and on the commissions side to close one, and receive/open another, I am hopeful we can extend the deadline and avoid a new application to be submitted from scratch.

Again, this is due to our status as a newly formed company.

Thank you in advance,
