I am a homeowner of a property located at 18403 Shaman Drive, Galveston, Texas 77554.

Said property is a habitable structure located near one or more of the utility routes for a transmission line, which will cross my property.

I am requesting for the design criteria of this space and request for the location of where the poles will be placed and how they will be installed.

Would like to also understand the location of the easements and the dimension of the easements, if they are to impede on my property.

I would also like to have a layout of the exact location for the line to be and how it will affect my property.

In addition, would like to understand how and if this electrical current will affect my home and those living therein.

Is the voltage the same as currently or will it be higher voltage?

Thanking you,

Sandra Bucaram
